Wilmington Fire Dept. to participate in BFit First Responder Challenge

By CASSIA BURNS
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — On Jan. 27, the Wilmington Fire Department will participate in the third annual BFit First Responder Challenge at T.D. Garden. The challenge is put on by the Boston Bruins Foundation, and is intended to raise awareness of health and wellness within New England.

The challenge is comprised of three divisions: the Fire-fighter/EMT division, the Law Enforcement division, and the Civilian division. During the challenge, participants have the choice of three climbing courses to complete, while other activities are offered for friends and family in attendance.

The idea behind the BFit challenge has its roots locally in Wilmington. In 2004,

Residents taking out papers for town election

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Since the annual town election papers became available as of Jan. 2, there are already names out for all but one open spot. According to the Town Clerk's office, this year there are three open seats on the Wilmington School Committee, two open seats on the Board of Selectmen, and one open seat on the Shawsheen Tech School Committee.

So far for Wilmington School Committee there are two names, re-election candidate Jo Newhouse and newcomer Jesse Fennelly. Fennelly has run for Wilmington School Committee for the past two years in a row without being elected.

The names for Board of Selectmen currently include only the members for re-election, Gregory Bendel and Kevin Cairra. Both were elected for their first term on the board in 2016. Robert Peterson Sr. took out papers for re-election for the Shawsheen Tech School Committee and continues to serve as Town Moderator, being elected last year for a 3-year term. The Housing Authority also doesn't have any open seats for the 2019 election.

Assistant Town Clerk Linda Golden shared that anyone taking out papers to run in the April 27 election needs to return them with 50 signatures by Friday, March 8. The last day to withdraw a name for the April 27 election is March 25, exactly 33 days before the vote.

Vince, Fothergill and Juergens help lead boys to convincing win over Stoneham

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

BOSTON - After starting the season out 2-0, the Wilmington High School boys' indoor track-and-field team was defeated for the first time by the reigning Division 4 Eastern Mass Champion Wakefield Warriors back on December 27th, only to rebound with a dominating win over Stoneham on Friday. The 1-1 split puts the team's record at 3-1 with one meet remaining on Tuesday night, with results not available at press time.

"We handily beat Stoneham, which was a great team win," said head coach Mike Kinney. "We won the meet 76-23, which is a testament to how strong our team is this year. Burlington and Wakefield have been one and two in Division 3 outdoor and Division 4 Indoor for the entire state for the last several years. Therefore, we are pleased to be competing with them and scoring as many points as them in league competition."

"The team has met and exceed expectations. Moving forward we want to finish 4-1 on the season, and score in the top five at the State Relay meet and the League Championship meet."

Three members of the team placed in multiple individual events to lead the way for the 'Cats in the win over Stoneham. Sam Vince was first in the 55-meter hurdles (8:93) and second in the long jump (18-03.50) and second in the 55-meter dash (7:26). Sam Juergens picked up two thirds, in the high jump (5-1) and long jump (16-11). The trio accounted for 18 of the team's points.

Other individual first places came from Jake Danieli in the 600 (1:31.27), Richie Stuart in the 300 (39.44), Kevin Elder in the 1,000 (2:49.20), Ben Packer in the two-mile (10:24.23), Tyler Thomas in the shot put (41-05) and Sean Riley in the high jump (5-01).

Also, both the relay teams also won. The 4x200 team had Stuart, Vince, Matt Chisholm and Fothergill finish at a combined time of 1:37.48 and the 4x400 team had Danieli, Max Duong and Brian and Kevin Elder come in at 3:44.98.

Second places were earned by Greg Adamek in the mile (4:42.38), Vincent De La Cruz in the 600 (1:32.15), Brian Elder in the 1,000 (2:51.46), Max Duong in the 300 (41.18) and Dan Maienza in the two-mile (11:42.28).

Nolan Kennedy scored a point by taking a third in the mile (4:55.10).

In the loss to Wakefield, Wilmington managed just two first places.

"We knew they were going to be tough and we were coming off a big win against Burlington the previous week," said Kinney. "A few athletes were sick and we came out a little flat. I thought we would score a few more points than we did. Their depth in the distance and sprinting events proved to be a little too much for us to handle. That being said, we did get some solid performances from a few seniors and juniors."

Senior captain Tyler Thomas highlighted the team's performance with a first place in the shot put, throwing a personal best of 42-11.

"He has been experimenting with the rotational approach as opposed to the glide style of throwing," explained Kinney. "This usually takes a lot of practice. The technique can usually generate more power and distance if done correctly, but can also be more risky because it is more difficult to maintain balance. He has been doing a great job in addressing the finer details of throwing at practice."

The other first place came from Sam Vince, who was clocked at 8.67 seconds in the 55-meter hurdles.

"He remains undefeated in the league and has been great under pressure this season," said the coach.

Although he didn't win and finished second in the mile at 4:38.64, Adamek ran a terrific race in the mile.

"It was a personal best time and state qualifying time," said Kinney.

Ben Packer also qualified for the state meet with his second place finish in the two-mile, coming in at 10:20.05.

"He continues to perform at a very high level," said Kinney.

Kevin Elder had a personal best and state qualifying time of 2:46.01 to finish second in the 1,000, while Mike Fothergill was second in the long jump at 17-01 and Juergens was tied for second in the high jump, clearing 5-

1. This past Saturday at the annual Auerbach Freshman/Sophomore Meet, Sean Riley stole the show by taking first overall in the 600-meters with a time of 1:28.16.

"His time was a personal record and it qualifies him for the State meet as well. The next closest runner to him was three seconds back. This was a state meet, so his victory was an outstanding accomplishment. It has been quite some time since we have seen a sophomore run as well as Sean has been lately. He is an outstanding student, a hard-working athlete, and an individual who demonstrates all the characteristics we are looking for in student athletes."

"It was great to see Sean win and go to the podium. His hard work and consistency has paid off and should continue to pay off for him in the future. He is really a pleasure to work with and is a positive role model for the other members of the team."

Juergens finished 15th in the long jump (17-00.50) and 21st in the 55-meter hurdles (9.96). Sullivan finished 20th in both the 55-meter dash (7.24) and long jump (16-05.00) and Joe DeMoura was 18th in the high jump (5-0 and 19th in the 600 (1:39.01).

Also competing included Sean Lydon, who was 44th in the mile at 5:20.86 and Ethan Yuen, who was 72nd in the 300 at 47.43.

Finally the 4x200 relay team of DeMoura, Riley, Juergens and Sullivan, finished 10th with a combined time of 1:45.36.

Boys Hoop team falls to Stoneham

having four fouls, Wilmington made an adjustment and went full court press and started to foul Stoneham.

"It was kind of a risk, but they ended up missing a bunch of foul shots," Ingram said. "That got us back into the game."

Anthony, who made four of his nine three pointers in the fourth quarter, nailed his last one with 1:08 left in the game to cut the lead to five at 61-56. Wilmington then forced a turnover, and got a great look at a wide open three, but it did not go down and Stoneham started making their foul shots down the stretch to account for the 65-56 final.

While this was a game the Wildcats would dearly have loved to win, for many reasons, Ingram remained upbeat after the game, confident that his players would be able to learn from the defeat.

"We were able to take some positives out of it. I know it is cliché for a coach to say they are trying to get better every game, but really that is what the situation is for us," Ingram said. "It is difficult to play some of the larger schools and be down by double digits early and often, but I think our seniors, Stephen and Chris Stokes have done a good job letting these younger guys know that we are going to be OK, and that this is the way the league is. And we were right there with Stoneham in this one."

"We are facing the iron right now, but all these reps will just make us better as the season goes on."

On Tuesday night, the Wildcats took on one of the teams that would definitely qualify as the iron of the Middlesex League when they hosted Winchester High, and they suffered and 80-27 defeat. The score was tied at 9-9 at the end of the first quarter, but Winchester went into a full court press in the second quarter and blew the game open, taking a 41-17 lead at halftime.

Wilmington was led by 9 points and 12 rebounds by Anthony.

The Wildcats will be back in action on Friday night when they take on Middlesex League rival Watertown in a road game with a 7:00 pm tipoff.

Wilmington will remain on the road with stops at Arlington on Tuesday and Cristo Rey on Wednesday, before coming back home on the 18th to face Melrose.

History:

The captain's cars tested Andersen's patience

By LARZ F. NEILSON

Nobody likes phone calls in the middle of the night. When Doug Andersen's phone would ring about 4 or 5 a.m., he knew it was probably a road call. And if it was a Thursday, he knew exactly what to expect.

Chances were it would be Capt. Larz Neilson, broken down in his '49 Packard clunker, somewhere between North Wilmington and Lowell. Larz would work very late on Wednesdays, writing and pasting up the pages of the Town Crier. It might be 3 a.m. when he set off for the printer. If the car broke down on the way to Lowell, the paper would be late on the press. If it was on the way home, the papers would be late at the post office.

The Packard was a gem that Larz got from Wilmington Ford after his Plymouth convertible was broadsided. It was a loaner, something that the dealer couldn't sell. It was ugly brown with a lot of rust. Oh yes, there was one other thing — the transmission was fried. It only had third and reverse.

If that was a mechanic's nightmare, what followed was worse. Desperate for another car, Larz got a '49 Ford from his tenant, Valley News. It was maroon and rust, even uglier than the Packard. The price was $25, plus he had to drive a Sunday paper route. The Ford had a good engine but was a candidate for the junk yard. The seats had been taken out and replaced with a truck seat, kind of like a broken bucket seat. Behind it was a wooden box to keep it from tipping over.

Doug had the privilege of keeping these cars running. His mechanical skills were second only to his good will.

Doug and his cousin Don ran the D&D Gulf station in North Wilmington, near the Town Crier office. Larz founded the Town Crier in the old North Wilmington railroad depot. The gas station was built in 1957 by Dice O'Neil. The Andersens bought it about a year later. At the time, it was the only gas station in North Wilmington.

Doug soon became the "go-to guy" for things mechanical. If he couldn't fix something, he'd go see "Damey." Forest Dame was an institution, Wilmington's old-time mechanic.

Doug had a Jeep pickup truck for road calls and snow plowing. There being no power angle adjustment on the plow, Doug or a helper would have to lie down and pull a steel pin to adjust the blade.

Most gas stations are company owned, with the operator holding a lease. The Gulf station, though, was owned by the Andersens, but not Don and Doug. The property was owned by their fathers.

In the mid 1960s, it was time to paint the station. Gulf Oil Corp. sent out several cases of paint, but no painters. Doug called the Gulf rep asking when the painters would arrive. The man from Gulf told him to read his contract. Gulf had only agreed to provide the paint. Doug told the guy to look at the contract and see who signed it. It was Doug. But Doug did not own the property. It was owned by his father, David, and his uncle Wigo. Doug had them over a barrel — of paint.

The lawyers arrived first, and the painters quickly followed.

Don and Doug were double cousins. Their fathers were brothers and their mothers were sisters. They lived in the old Gowing farmhouse on Park Street. David and Evelyn lived in one side of the farmhouse, Wigo and Dorothy in the other. They had a substantial farm, including a piggery.

Evelyn Andersen was the art director in the Wilmington school system for decades. Dorothy was the bookkeeper for the gas station.

The neighbor behind the station, Charlie Green, would sometimes stagger in and sit down for a cigarette. He'd perch on the low windowsill and ask someone for a light. Always happy to be a little devil, Joe Irwin lit a match and held it a couple of inches from Charlie's cigarette. Charlie leaned toward the flame and Joe moved it farther away. Ka-boom!

D&D had a team in a local bowling league. Wayne Christopher, a terrific bowler, would come to the station late on Monday afternoons for a ride to the bowling alley with Don. Someone managed to distract Wayne for a few minutes. When he got to the bowling alley, he found the finger holes in his bowling ball had been filled with grease.

Bob Doucette worked for D&D for more than a decade. About 1966, a new Shell station across the street. Jimmy Fiorenza opened the station but only lasted a year. When he bailed out, Bob took over the lease on the Shell station. The competition was always healthy and both stations did well. Bob was elected to the Board of Selectmen in the 1980s. Some folks call him the "Mayor of North Wilmington."

Eventually, Don left the partnership and opened a Gulf station in North Reading. Doug kept the D&D station going for decades. When he decided to retire, he sold the place to Bob Doucette. More than a half-century after he started there, you'll find Bob back in the old station at 360 Middlesex Ave.

'The Struggle for Women's Equality'

"The Struggle for Women's Equality" will appear at the Wilmington Memorial Library during January and February. The project is supported in part by a grant from the Wilmington Cultural Council.

WILMINGTON — An interesting and timely exhibit will be staged during the months of January and February at the Wilmington Memorial Library. The exhibit is titled "The Struggle for Women's Equality," and it consists of about 30 posters from the collection of Stephen Lewis.

This exhibit highlights some of the issues and challenges facing women, or that women once faced. Some of the issues the posters address is job discrimination, voting rights, and full participation in the workforce and in unions.

It is an exhibit that may stimulate some more thinking on the subjects of gender discrimination and inequality. This exhibit is timely because of the numerous revelations of sexual assault and harassment perpetrated by men in power. The advancement of women's equality is a good step to reduce this behavior.

The posters hail from several countries including the US, Greece, Canada, The Netherlands, Belgium, France and Germany. Through graphics and written word, they address issues of discrimination, gender bias, and inferior treatment of women.

Issues like sexism have long existed in not only this country, but in many countries. In Saudi Arabia, women just recently were allowed to drive a car; they cannot venture out of their home without a male member of the family, and they cannot attend school. They are treated as property.

Some people in this country like to believe that they are not sexist. It has taken many years to change certain discriminatory laws, but attitudes by many are lagging behind. Lewis encourages people to view the exhibit regardless of your attitudes and think about the issues the posters speak to.

The posters are from a collection of more than 8,000 posters of Stephen Lewis. Lewis has been collecting political posters for 20 years and staging exhibits around Massachusetts. He can be reached at Lewisposters@gmail.com

Lewis attributes his love for the posters and creating exhibits, to his background as a political activist and a union leader. He states that many of his exhibits reflect issues he has been involved in over the course of his life.

This project is supported in part by a grant from the Wilmington Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency.

By PAUL ANDREWS

This post-holiday column will be a bit different in that I will be referencing some observations from my readings on the drug culture in our country, followed up with some observations and answers to issues that have come to my attention over the two recent holidays.

Synthetic drugs raising concern

While I have not seen a great deal lately about this in the press, the concern of "synthetic drugs" has become a huge issue in the State of Minnesota, where these have caused considerable impact and in fact deaths from the use of these chemicals that are considered more lethal than LSD type drugs. While we do not seem to ever beat the drug offenders, our police departments especially have really put considerable pressure on stopping the distribution process and increased their intelligence to a point where there is a feeling we (society) have a better handle on the process, so a big thanks to all law enforcement forces from federal to local staff for working so hard on apprehension of offenders and chasing the sources back as far as possible.

With addiction such a complicated process and the difficulty to cut "all" sources, the problem is that leakage can get into the hands of our population, especially and unfortunately our younger-aged group. This often ends up with disastrous results unless caught early enough. With this new group of synthetic drugs, the potential of damage and disaster has reportedly brought severe results.

I cannot help but repeat what law enforcement tell us all the time to make sure any unused and/or containers with no purpose be turned over to the local police departments in Town Crier land for proper disposal. This just makes common sense.

Heard around the area

Some of the issues that I get to print at the end of the column, I wanted to bring up front as they may bring some interest to readers. First the death of Dr. David Fitzpatrick this weekend brings back many memories of a fine physician who was one of the first so called cardiologists and internal medicine physicians in the area and a friend to so many. His informal style both in his office and hospital brought a level of comfort to patients and those medical and nursing staff who worked with him. Dave had that great laugh and smile that brought confidence to so many, as he lived his life to the fullest. May he rest in peace.

Area news stations were carrying the data this Sunday that Mardi Gras preparations are starting, which as I recall, comes at the beginning of Lent. If I remember correctly, I saw some Christmas trees out for pick up today in my travels and made me wonder if they are not hurrying the season along just a bit.

Often folks know I am in Boston to the State House frequently and ask me about parking, which never gets better unless you are really lucky. The usual question asked is what parking lot prices are in the city, which pretty much hover around two 20 dollar bills or 40 dollars with many hotels and function areas using validation stickers to reduce payment if you are in one of those fortunate locations.

Also of note, I find many state, federal and municipal facilities are increasing the use of making copies of your license as you enter similar to what you do at the airport. Many facilities including local schools copy the license and give you a black and white copy that you can place on your shirt, jacket, etc. as validation you have properly entered the building. I would wonder what happens when you don't have it as you leave.

The variety store in Central Square in Woburn that I will always call "Jack's Variety" has a large waiting list every day for the first delivery of the Times Chronicle and "the waiters" find time to review their own local events, as the paper is on the way. There can get to be sense of impatience when the paper is late, which is not usual but can happen in the mechanical operation of a press. All will say though, "it was worth the wait."

Speaking of papers, recent note was taken of the reduction of comics in the Boston Globe for reasons that escape me as stated by one of the panelists in the Beat the Press Friday night WGBH program commenting that all of the former comics are available on the Boston Globe web site if one went there, if this means so much to readers. Actually, I know this is an issue for many as it was a question in a panel program at the Harvard University Faculty Club to the Globe Editor a couple of years ago when two comics were cut. Not really expecting that question, the Editor responded to a college professor with a laugh, "I will check on that."

JUST A NOTE — Thanks for being sources of this data, as well as those who forward me e-mails on the column, which I appreciate. Feel free to follow me on twitter at Paulandrewsmass or e-mail me at andrews@massupit.org.

Book Stew Reviews

'The Witch Elm' by Tana French

By EILEEN MACDOUGALL

When a series writer switches up to a standalone novel, devoted readers get the willies: uh oh, what about [insert beloved characters here], and they tend to be wary and suspicious of the new.

But since I worship at the altar of Tana French, she of the six exquisite Dublin Murder Squad mysteries, I put myself on the endless wait list at our library for The Witch Elm and was not disappointed. Sure, I missed the camaraderie of the detectives, but this one's got two of her standard smart-but-awful ones on the periphery.

At the center is Toby, the epitome of a white privileged urban Dublin dudebro until he suffers both a work setback and a horrendous, seemingly random break-in and assault. His family sends him off to care for Uncle Hugo, a genealogist dying of cancer at Ivy House, the genteelly decaying family mansion.

Even before Toby has even begun to recover, and as Hugo gets sicker, a skull is found in the garden, and we're off to the races. French is known for her many red herrings and her insertion of odd events that go nowhere, and both are strongly in evidence (ha!) here. And she hasn't lost a step.

Some readers won't like the lack of likable characters, but that's also a French hallmark; they are always few and far between. But the gradual ratcheting up of the tension — you feel like a wet rag being twisted in strong hands throughout — clues the reader to the pages until the cascading series of denouements results in a rocky but satisfying ending.

Quotes: "That spike of terror went through me again. He was like a raptor, not cruel, not good or evil, only and utterly what he was. The purity of it, unbreakable, was beyond anything I could imagine."

"If I had been some track-suited skanger from a family of dole rats, the whole thing would have played out differently."

Annual town census underway in Tewksbury

TEWKSBURY — Town Clerk Denise Graffeo would like to remind residents about the importance of returning the annual town census form to the Town Clerk's Office, as soon as possible. Graffeo explains that a prompt and accurate census is very important. Your cooperation in returning the census as soon as possible will prevent the town from having to do another costly mailing.

If you are a new resident or if you do not receive a census form, please notify the Town Clerk's Office by phone at 978-640-4355 or by e-mail at townclerk@tewksbury-ma.gov.

Graffeo welcomes the community to visit the Town Clerk's page of her municipal website for more information relative to the annual town census and to find answers to FAQ's.

● The census provides information to assure that the town receives its fair share of state and federal funds and grants.

● It is also used for calculating veterans' benefits, housing for the elderly and other related veterans' and elderly benefits.

● The census information serves to provide: proof of residency to protect voting rights and to maintain the voting list, preventing needless delays at your voting precinct. Any previously registered voter who has not returned their annual census for two consecutive years will be added to the Inactive Voters List and therefore, by law, will be required to fill out an Affirmation of Current and Continuous Residence form and provide identification to prove continuous residency in the Town of Tewksbury.

● The school census provides projection for future enrollments and related benefits which allows school administrators to apply for additional state and federal funds and grants.

● Allows college students to apply for lower tuition at all Massachusetts state colleges and provides proof of residence. By law the town can only certify that you live in Tewksbury if you are listed in the census records. Owning property is not used for proof of residency.

● For the convenience of dog owners, you will find a dog registration form attached to the bottom of the census form. By state law, all dogs six month of age or older must be registered.

Police talk benefits of Delphi Technology Solutions' Digital Headquarters Software

LAWRENCE — Police Departments from around the state came together last month to speak on the benefits of Delphi Technology Solutions' Digital Headquarters (DHQ) software.

On Dec. 13, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., law enforcement officials filled the banquet hall at Salyatore's Restaurant in Lawrence, where Delphi President and CEO James Trombly and Vice President Karin Rhoton prepared an informative and interactive presentation on a number of DHQ topics.

"Since our first police contract in 2003, Delphi has greatly expanded its offerings to customize and improve data security for all our users," Trombly said. "The DHQ event provided us with an opportunity to bring our clients together in one room so that we can share best practices, training opportunities and new features. Thank you to everyone who took the time to share their experiences with the group."

Representatives from a number of police departments also presented on key features of DHQ that have assisted them in their day-to-day tasks.

To kick off the morning session, Methuen Police Officer Derek Licata opened the presentation by speaking about DHQ's Digital Roll Call, which allows users to post text, pictures or video for any roll call item. Each entry extends to all permitted mobile devices, allowing officers on the street or in the station to have easy access.

Lawrence Sgt. Sandy Pickard shared her experience with DHQ SafeWatch, a feature of the software that proactively catalogs information on individuals who are prone to wandering, like those with autism, dementia or Alzheimer's disease.

If needed, the system can instantly generate a missing person report, complete with a photo, physical description, known places the individual visits and more. The feature is modeled after the state's Silver Alert program.

Rhoton then took the podium to go over SharePoint Basics, a Microsoft framework that provides flexibility for the user to complete customized work, like creating and filtering calendar items, adding and deleting items on a list, putting together a photo library and more.

Following a quick break, where attendees were encouraged to ask their peers more about the systems they presented on and learn how it can best serve their departments, Bedford Police Lt. James Graham dove into DHQ Policy Sign Off.

This feature allows the administrator to load policies and procedures and track users who have read or not read the information, while allowing users to sign/acknowledge pertinent documents. DHQ also has a built-in alerting function that notifies the administrator of any user not in compliance, and allows for the redistribution of a policy for a single individual who may have been out on medical leave or deployment.

Tewksbury Police Chief Tim Sheehan spoke to the room about the benefits of DHQ for police departments, especially given the rapidly changing cyber world. Delphi will work with a department's IT staff to ensure all necessary firewalls, SSL certificates and anti-spam and anti-virus software are in place.

The event concluded with Trombly providing information on new DHQ features and answering questions from attendees.

Tewksbury youth to participate in trip to Lakota Native American Reservation

TEWKSBURY — This summer, a group of mostly school aged children from the Tewksbury community will travel on a mission trip to one of the country's poorest Native American reservations: Pine Ridge, South Dakota. While there, they will engage in work projects and demonstrate God's love while also being immersed in Native American culture.

They will have many opportunities to learn from the community, to better understand the history, and experience the rich culture.

There is a fundraiser to help defray the costs of the trip, 'SOUP'er BOWL SUNDAY, from 11 a.m. to noon on Sunday, Feb. 3, 2019, at Tewksbury Congregational Church. A large variety of homemade soup, chili, and stew will be available by the bowl or quart. This will be a free will offering with a suggested donation of $10/quart and $5/pint. Please stop by and meet some of the kids, purchase some soup, and support a very good cause.

Please contact the Tewksbury Congregational Church if you want to more information on the mission trip, the fundraiser, or if your child might want to come with us on the trip.

Jayne L. (McKinnon) Kapala

Wrote poetry and dabbled in painting

Jayne L. (McKinnon) Kapala of Tewksbury, MA passed away peacefully at her home after a long illness, on Saturday, Jan. 5, 2019.

Born on Sept. 20, 1945 in Belfast, Maine, Jayne was the daughter of the late Daniel and Alice (Malcolm) McKinnon.

Jayne was raised and educated in Maine, graduating from Crosby High School in 1964, where she excelled as a stenographer and typist. Jayne spent her teen years working at the Belfast Colonial theatre where she developed a life-long love of movies.

After high school, Jayne moved to Lowell, Massachusetts where she met her soon-to-be husband (the late) Frank Kapala. Jayne and Frank spent many nights tooling around the city in Franks' midnight blue Impala. Jayne and Frank were married in June of 1965, moving first to Woburn and eventually making Tewksbury their permanent home where Jayne resided for 48 years raising her family of five children.

Jayne was a master wordsmith who loved crossword puzzles and word games, frequently entering mail-in contests she would routinely win. She was quick-witted with a smart pun or funny twist of words. Jayne was a creative soul who wrote poetry and dabbled in painting with acrylics for a time. She was an avid fan of rock music — Pink Floyd and David Bowie were her favorites and she enjoyed going to rock concerts.

Jayne entered the full-time workforce in 1975 starting out as an administrative assistant. Her strong work ethic, intellect and ambition enabled Jayne to advance her career dramatically over the coming years. With the computer industry boom in the northeast, Jayne moved into software quality assurance working as a Sr. Software QA Engineer at Hewlett Packard for the final 18 years of her professional career.

In her later years, Jayne enjoyed spending her time with her family, reading books, watching movies and her all-time favorite tv game shows — Wheel of Fortune and Jeopardy.

Jayne is survived by her children: Lisa of Tewksbury, Carol & husband Steve DeSisto of Littleton, David of Lowell, Kathy of Billerica and Diana Foster of Tewksbury; her grandchildren: Courtney, Sophia, Tony, Nicholas, Olivia & Sabrina.

Jayne is sister to Mary Guilbeault of Dracut, Irene Miles of Fitchburg and the late Daniel McKinnon of Maine, Myron McKinnon of California & Charles McKinnon of Ohio.

Family and friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington on Friday, Jan. 11 for visitation from 4 - 7:30 p.m. followed by a Celebration of Life at 7:30 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Jayne's memory may be made to the Alzheimer's Association, 309 Waverly Oaks Road, Waltham, MA 02452.

John M. Russo

Built and weld submarines during WWII

John M. Russo, age 94, a long-time resident of Wilmington and a renowned artist fondly known as the "Man of Steel" passed away peacefully on Dec. 31, 2018.

John was born in Lawrence, MA, on June 17, 1924 (Bunker Hill Day); he was the cherished son of the late Mariano "Mike" and Francesca (Moncada) Russo.

John along with his brother Trio were raised on Union Street in Lawrence above Fisichelli's Bakery. John attended Lawrence Public Schools and was a graduate of Lawrence High School with the Class of 1942.

Following graduation, John took a welding course and then went to work at the Portsmouth Navy Yard building and welding submarines for the war efforts as World War II was underway.

When the war ended, John took a job at the Wood Mill and eventually became a Union Shop Stewart. John worked at the Wood Mill for several years before they slowly started shutting down, moving the work overseas and laying off their employees.

John's ability to learn his welding trade allowed him to find steady work; one of his most notable jobs was building the first chemical plant in Wilmington that is now known as the Olin Chemical Superfund site.

While working at the Mill, John became interested in performing and visual arts and joined the Lawrence Theater Players and L.G.M. Theater in Lowell; there he acted, directed and wrote short plays. John was a natural in the arts; even in his early school days he showed an avocation for drawing and was soon more interested in cultivating his artistic talents.

John went on to take art classes; he studied human anatomy and sculpting and took classes in figure drawing and sketching at the Cambridge Adult Center. John started with charcoal or pencil, then on to oils and pastels. John also homed in on his skills by taking night courses at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston.

While on lunch break at Olin Chemicals, John would practice what he learned and make detailed sketches of his fellow workers. John was also able to incorporate his welding experience with his knowledge of art and sculpting and create his own original direct metal sculpting technique.

John met the "love of his life" Louise Nardo in 1949 on United Nations Day during a performance at the Oliver School in Lawrence. It was love at first sight for John and he got the courage to ask her to join him and his friends at the United Nations Festival in New Hampshire; everyone had a great time.

One thing led to another and the couple soon became inseparable; they married on April 2, 1950 at the Unitarian Church in Lawrence. John and Louise spent over 68 wonderful years together before her passing on Nov. 18 of this year; John was truly heartbroken when he lost his beautiful wife.

John and Louise lived in Tewksbury for several years before moving to Wilmington where they resided for over 50 years. John and Louise raised three wonderful children and enjoyed being grandparents to six grandchildren as well as 12 great-grandchildren.

At their home in Wilmington, John set up shop in their garage on the corner of Middlesex Avenue and Clark Street, where he created some of the most amazing pieces of art. John continued to work in the welding industry but was spending more time cultivating his torch creating art.

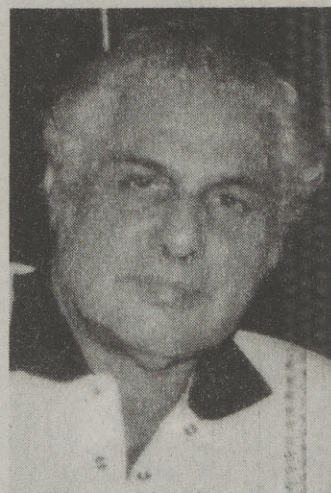

Finally, in 1961, John brought some of his pieces to local art show in Cambridge; he left several sculptures to see if there was any interest in his unique pieces and within an hour, he received a phone call to see if there were any more pieces available for sale and his career as an artist was in full bloom.

As the demand for John's art work increased, he made the decision to quit his welding job and become a full-time sculptor. John's art was "poetry in motion;" his pieces all contained a sense of movement and action demonstrated in positioning a work leaning forward or leaping through the air.

Throughout the years, John's art has been exhibited throughout the New England states and New York City; he was commissioned to do many special pieces including a sculpture of "Secretariat" for its owners. John's themes have also included politically influenced pieces that portrayed scenes of Vietnam peasants during the 1960's; but whatever the theme, John, always put his heart and soul into every piece he created.

John's works have won numerous prizes and patrons, among them other famous artists. In 1970, John's unique sculptures were featured to a wider audience when Boston's WBGH Channel 2 aired an interview with the amazing artist.

For over 20 years, John traveled to many art exhibits to display his unique sculptures; many times, he took his family along mixing business with pleasure. As all the years of traveling took its toll, John retreated from all the art shows and took a teaching job at the Shawsheen Vocational Technical High School Teaching Metal Fab, Machine Shop, Graphic arts and Technical illustration.

John brought his passion for art as well as his many talents to the students at Shawsheen Technical High School; he worked on with his students and a ram's head, the school's mascot, are featured in the entry way of the building. John dedicated himself to the school and his students for more than 20 years; this was a job he thoroughly enjoyed.

John was the beloved husband of 68 years to the late Louise (Nardo) Russo, devoted father of Linda Aspeslagh of Amesbury & her partner Tim Regan, Leslie Champoux & her late husband Bart of Belchertown and Michael Russo & his wife Peggy of North Chelmsford.

Loving "Papa" of Kenneth & Rachel Aspeslagh, Glen & Sothy Aspeslagh, Kristen Champoux, Michael Russo, Kerry & Ron Yost, Wendy & Larry Johnson and great-grandchildren Tabitha, Sonja, Nicholas, Sam, Heidi, Liana, Natalia, Lillian, Madden, Morgan, Ayla and Avery.

Cherished son of the late Mariano "Mike" and Francesca (Moncada) Russo, dear brother of the late Trionfro "Trio" Russo.

John's family would like to thank their caregiver, Karen Burns, who provided loving support and care to John, and also his wife Louise during the final years of their life.

Robert E. 'Bob' Tadgell

Served in US Army during Korean War

Robert E. "Bob" Tadgell, 89 of Wilmington passed away peacefully, surrounded by family on Jan. 4, 2019.

Bob proudly served in the United States Army during the Korean War and retired after 46 years of dedicated service at State Street Bank.

On and off the clock, Bob, worked tirelessly to make the world a better place, from the tiniest bumper on a cabinet door to a plan more elaborate than one could ever fully understand. He was always ready with a kind, encouraging word and the proper tool and wisdom to fix any situation. He was never attention-seeking but was always present and eager to serve.

He was frequently seen around town during his tenure on the Wilmington School Committee, the Boy Scouts of America, the Masons, Retired Men's Club, the Quannapowitt Ham Radio Club (W1 PIN) or behind the grill at the Kiwanis Chicken BBQ.

He rarely sat still, so when not involved with the community he could be found tinkering at home, "macgyvering" a brilliant fix at his place in Holderness, NH or at the helm of his boat "Excalibur" on Squam Lake.

Do not be fooled though, he was not all caution and business, he knew how to have fun and find joy in his tasks. He had a one-of-a-kind half-smile that meant he was up to some sort of mischief.

For example, while simultaneously maintaining a wide berth from shallow coves (the caution), he'd flash that impish grin and punch "Excalibur" full-throttle into a wake to "rock the boat," just a little. Or sometimes he'd switch up his signature bowl of cereal at bedtime to a raucous bowl of ice cream, shhhh don't tell Helen!

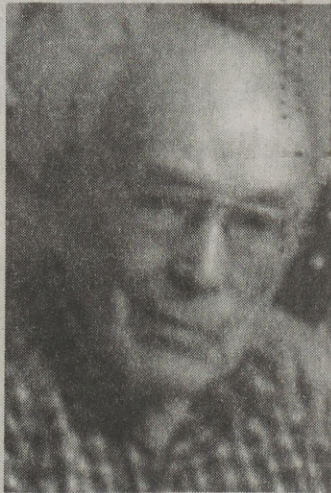

Where he would really let his hair down though was at weddings, birthdays or any gathering where a dance floor was found. He could not resist, any willing dance partner, none at all, or not surprisingly leading the Conga line through the crowd. Many will send wishes for rest and peace but for Bob it is better to wish he dance on forever.

He was the beloved husband to Helen (Benner) Tadgell, devoted father of Heather T. Rollo & her partner Bruce Rossi of Medford, and Robert E. Tadgell Jr. & his partner Richard E. Pumfrey of Atkinson, NH.

Loving "Grampy" of Lindsay Anderson & her husband Cameron, of Vermontville, NY, and Allison McCarthy & her husband Christopher, of Middleboro.

Cherished son of the late Alfred and Grace (Dow) Tadgell, dear brother of the late Ruth, Alfred, Henry and Richard Tadgell. Bob is also survived by several nieces and nephews.

Many of the aforementioned survivors share his love of life, office supplies, and ice cream and will surely carry on his legacy.

At Bob's request, his services will be private. In lieu of flowers, donations in Bob's memory may be made to the Children's Hospital, Attn: Development Office, 300 Longwood Ave., Boston, MA 02115, Shriner's Hospitals for Children-Boston, Attn: Development Office, 51 Blossom St., Boston, MA 02114 or to St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, 262 Danny Thomas Place, Memphis, TN 38105.

Arrangements were under the direction of the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave., Wilmington.

She was a loving "Mimi" to her "angel girl" Claire Connelly and Maximus Reinhardt, cherished daughter of the late William and Dona (Petty) Culhane, dear twin sister of the late Doreen Crawford of Arkansas, aunt of Adam Crawford and his wife Robin and their daughter Lily of Arkansas.

The cold, solitude days of January can often cause us stress. Winter storms and frigid temperatures of the Northeast often leave us snow-bound, thereby causing a cabin fever like anxiety. A trip to the Cape Cod Art Museum might be the relaxing escape from the dull winter doldrums you have been looking for.

Nestled in the heart of scenic Route 6A, at 60 Hope Lane in Dennis, the museum sits among quaint shops, cafes and antique dealers, making it a perfect destination, even during Cape Cod's off season.

The Cape Cod Museum of Art has taken on the mission of preserving Cape Cod's finest artist. The museum is dedicated to not only showcasing outstanding regional art collections, but also highlighting diverse programs and education to excite and inspire the creative minds of Cape Cod and connecting communities.

The museum was started in 1980 by Cape Cod sculptors Arnold Geissbuhler and Harry Holl, along with artist and lawyer Roy Freed. They wanted to create an art museum that would both display and preserve the works of generations of artist associated with Cape Cod. They assembled a small group of artist, educators, and activist and created the Scarborough Lake Museum.

In 1982, the name was changed to The Cape Cod Museum of Fine Arts and soon after, they started a charter member drive. After several location changes, the CCMFA built a new facility at their current location in the mid-1990's. Then in 2004, the name of the museum was officially changed to Cape Cod Museum of Art, to include the complete variety of art created on the Cape and Islands.

This state of the art facility includes seven climate controlled galleries, Sculpture Garden, an auditorium, museum shop, conference room, library, and the Weny Education Center.

The Weny Education Center is a large open studio space used to provide classes and workshops for children and adults. The center also features an "Arts and Alzheimer's" program.

Partnering with the Alzheimer's Family Support Center, the museum offers several different types of classes for those with memory loss and their caregivers to relax and express their artistic creativity through color, paint, sculpture and design.

The Cape Cod Museum of Art's permanent exhibit has an extensive collection of regional artist's work. Collection highlights include graphic artist Alexander Calder, landscape artist John Joseph Enneking, whose favorite subject was the twilight of New England, and renowned Provincetown artist Hans Hofmann, who was considered the Father of Abstract.

Current exhibits include "Light in a Dark Season," on exhibit now through Jan. 27. This show features a stunning variety of paintings, prints, photographs, sculptures and jewelry with a focus on the artist's interpretation of the meaning of "Inner and Outer Light."

Also on exhibit until Feb. 17, 2019 is "Go Figure: Exploring Human Form." This exhibit features a large variety of works by artists associated with Cape Cod who have interpreted the human figure in different realistic and imagined ways.

Bundle up and reflect on the beauty and peace of the winter season as you walk through the sculpture garden to the entrance of the Cape Cod Museum of Art. There you will find a cultural haven of the best of the best that Cape Cod has to offer to the art community.

For more information on education programs and museum hours visit www.ccmoa.org.

With disc golf, golfing season never ends

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent
paige@yourtowncrier.com

As long as the weather stays dry, getting outdoors to keep active remains a priority. A fun, year 'round option for folks is disc golf, a family-friendly activity played with a frisbee along an established course.

On a recent Saturday, we headed out with friends to Muldoon Park in nearby Pelham, New Hampshire. The course is located on recreation property and is set next to a playground.

Disc golf parks, in general, are set up on open space land and can run anywhere from 9 to 18 holes over five to 50 acres. Courses have some basic housekeeping needs, and conveniently, Muldoon has a broom at each hole to sweep pine needles and leaves off the tee pads.

The object of the game is very simple; get the disc into the basket at each "hole" in as few attempts as possible. A disc golf basket is an elevated wire basket on a metal pole with chains hanging down to help the disc land in the basket versus bouncing off the pole; think Mad Max meets a squirrel baffle on a birdfeeder.

According to the Professional Disc Golf Association, holes are typically a Par 3, and the player with the lowest score wins. While a regular frisbee can be used, specific discs for golf are sold and even go so far as to be categorized as putters, mid-ranges and drivers. However, no investment needs to be made if you have a regular or Ultimate frisbee disc lying around at home.

The origin of the game is somewhat unclear, but it seems that there were some folks in Rochester, NY who started using Wham-O frisbees thrown at targets as an outdoor recreational game in the 1970s. A professional disc golf association was eventually formed, and courses for free play sprung up all over the nation.

Competitive events are held all the time and the reach of the sport is now global, with courses dotting the planet. Most courses are free to play and are open to the public. The sport has grown so popular that there is a national headquarters, museum and pro shop in Appling, Georgia on a site which boasts three championship disc golf courses. The game is played with the same spirit as Ultimate Frisbee — respect others, respect the course, and have fun.

In addition to Muldoon Park there are other courses nearby where you can play for free, including Devens in Ayer which is an 18-hole layout with a rocky and wooded landscape, and Simonds Park in Burlington, a 9-hole course which is moderately wooded. Clement Farm in Haverhill is another option fairly close by. There are over 50 courses in Massachusetts, according to dgcoursereview.com.

Get out and give disc golf a try.

Samantha Ryan drains a big three-pointer to send Sr. League game into OT

TGBL Game Summaries
 From 12/22 and 1/5
Senior Division
Blazers 42, Jazz 40

Samantha Ryan hit a three pointer to force overtime with less than 10 seconds remaining in regulation time. During overtime both teams traded baskets before the Blazers came out on top. Leading the scoring was Maddy Montejo and Sam Perkins both with ten points each. Followed closely by Sam Ryan with nine. Ashley Demers added five, Lily Gigante, Rebecca Langone, Alyssa Gray and Maisan Nguyen, all had two points each. Brooke Bunyan contributed on the defensive side. Rachel Picher was missing for the game.

Sonics 30, Suns 22

Playing with only six players, the Suns hung in there for three quarters, but ran out of gas in the fourth. Alyssandra Ragusa and Darya Mehrabani did a good job of rebounding and limiting second chance opportunities. Sophia Brown did a good job of holding down the Sonics' point guards on defense.

The Suns scoring came from: Madison Stovesand 12, Riley Veits 8, and Maeve Cahill 2.

Blazers 29, Suns 24

The Blazers won with scoring from Sam Ryan nine points, followed by Sam Perkins, Maisan Nguyen, Ashley Demers and Maddy Montejo all with four points each. Rachel Picher and Rebecca Langone both added two points each. Lily Gigante, Alyssa Gray and Brooke Bunyan contributed on the defensive side.

Playing short-handed again, the Suns gave their best effort. Down by 9 entering the fourth quarter, they cut the lead to 2, but that was as close as they could get. Emma Nowell did a good job of setting picks. Alyssandra Ragusa did her best at keeping the second chance opportunities to a minimum on defense.

Their scoring came from Madison Stovesand 8, Kiley Kennedy 6, Riley Veits 4, Jennie Lester 2, and scoring 2 each for the first time this season Sophia Brown and Darya Mehrabani.

Intermediate Division

Jayhawks 29, Eagles 15
 Week 5 had the Eagles playing two games. In the first contest, the Eagles faced the Jayhawks and lost 29-15.

The Eagles offense started off slow but picked up in the second half including Dakota Malizia hitting a 3-point shot when time expired. Dakota led the team in scoring with 10 points. Contributing to the scoring also was Whitney Gigante (2 points), Aislin Davis (2 points) and Kimsan Nguyen (1 point).

Any Cranston, Claudia Melo, Paige Crowley, Alanna Paquette, Chloe Burns contributed to the rebounding and defensive effort.

Badgers 26, Eagles 24

The Eagles held the lead for most of the game until late when the Badgers hit a game winning shot with less than three seconds remaining and beat the Eagles 26-24. Dakota Malizia led the team in Scoring with 13 points.

Also contributing to the scoring was Paige Crowley (7 points), Whitney Gigante (2 points), and Claudia Melo (2 points). Kimsan Nguyen, Aislin Davis, Alanna Paquette, Chloe Burns, and Autumn Gallant contributed to the rebounding and defensive effort.

Wolverines 26, Badgers 10
 Game 1 the designated players were Ella McAllister and Molly MacDonald. They split duties during our first and third quarter action, with each player contributing huge underneath with offensive and defensive rebounds, along with Alex Civitarese who was there anchoring the team with strong defense yet again. Sofia Pescatore continued to lead the squad on defense as well, causing turnovers or just frustrating the Badger guards. She had Tia Smith handling the ball for the Wolverines in the first half, along with Juliana Leffler and Jordyn St Cyr.

Scoring strong baskets that first quarter were Tia Smith with 4 points and Molly MacDonald with a basket. The second quarter we had Emily Picher sub in for Tia as our point guard. She did not disappoint scoring 2 baskets and leading the charge on defense. She had supported that quarter on offense from Ella McAllister, Makayla Stovesand 3 points, and Jordyn St. Cyr who had her first basket of the season.

For the second half we had Morgan Crowley and Emma Lanziero come in strong off the bench. They were both instrumental keeping the Badgers out of the contest. Scoring in the second half were Tia Smith with 4 more points, Emma Lanziero with a basket, and Makayla Stovesand as well hitting a nice shot outside. The fourth quarter was all about us controlling the ball and limiting scoring which we did. Emily Picher added a free throw to seal the win.

Jayhawks 27, Wolverines 23

Less than 10 minutes after their first game, the Wolverines were back out on the court. This time Morgan Crowley and Tia Smith lead as our guards. The designated players were Juliana Leffler and Ella McAllister again. They shared playing time during our first and third quarters. Unfortunately, the Wolverines were feeling the first game as our offense was lacking. The

Wolverines did get a basket from Molly MacDonald in the first quarter, but the Jayhawks were hot scoring 12 fast points. Makayla Stovesand and Jordyn St. Cyr also were playing the first half and gave their best efforts on each side of the ball. Tia Smith added a free throw point for us in the second quarter, but we found ourselves behind on the score 14-3.

For the start of the third quarter Emily Picher suited up as our point guard supported by Sofia Pescatore. Emily got us back into the contest quickly scoring 7 points. The team also had some offense from Juliana Leffler and Molly MacDonald.

In the fourth, Emily Picher added some more offense with 5 more points, and as well strong offense from Alex Civitarese, who had two baskets and tons of great offensive rebounds. Emma Lanziero gave it her all underneath with strong defensive skills as did Jordyn St Cyr.

Learning how to aid an injured dog in emergency

ARLINGTON — Armstrong Ambulance personnel participated in a specialized training last month that would help them render aid to an injured dog in an emergency.

On Wednesday, Dec. 12, Armstrong welcomed veterinarian Beth Eisenberg from the Massachusetts Veterinary Referral Hospital in Woburn for an in-depth training session that would enable them to help an injured dog, such as a police K-9 hurt in the line of duty.

Armstrong EMTs and Paramedics worked with a black lab to learn more about its anatomy and develop an understanding of how properly listen to its heart and lungs and locate its pulse. Staff members were also trained on basic handling of an injured K-9 — including providing safe transport using a backboard — and all of the critical skills they'd need to respond to various types of trauma, much as they do with human patients. They also had the opportunity to practice CPR on a K-9 mannequin.

"We work closely with police departments and other Law Enforcement agencies which includes their K-9 members, so we want to be prepared to provide critical lifesaving aid to anyone at a scene who may need it," Armstrong CEO Richard Raymond said. "Our team members did an excellent job building an understanding of how they can provide immediate help to injured dogs just like they would with an injured person."

While all Armstrong EMTs and Paramedics have undergone extensive and specialized training to provide aid to human beings, the course on K-9 first aid allowed them to have a baseline understanding of the needs of injured animals and how their first aid needs differ from those of humans.

The course is part of Armstrong's ongoing training program, and provides participating EMTs and Paramedics with continuing education that they must fulfill in order to maintain their certifications. 28 Paramedics and EMTs participated in the training.

Anthony scores 35 points and ties school record by burying nine from beyond the arc

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

STONEHAM - Perhaps the most surprising thing about Wilmington High senior guard Stephen Anthony's performance last Friday night is that in many ways it was not that surprising at all.

Well, of course, it is a surprise any time someone can pull off a feat like a career high 35 points and a school record tying nine three pointers in a game, but it is no surprise that Anthony was the player to pull it off.

He has been a marksman from three point land all season long; among the Middlesex League leaders in three pointers made, and has been the unquestioned leader of this year's Wildcats team.

That was the case more than ever on Friday night, with Anthony doing his best to try and will his team to victory, although they ended up coming up on the short end of a 65-56 loss to Stoneham.

"He has been our most consistent offensive player by a landslide. We lean on him a lot, and we depend on him a lot and he is OK with that, and comfortable with that," Wilmington coach Dennis Ingram said. "Stephen is really committed to working hard all year long to improve his game."

"As a JV player he had a couple of 30 point games, and as sophomore against Shawsheen he hit a shot at the buzzer to win a game for us, so we have always seen what a great player he can be and (Friday night) was just another example of how great a player he is."

As happy as Anthony was to find himself in the Wilmington record book, tying the school record set by Craig Mello in 2009, and becoming what is believed to be just the sixth player in Middlesex League history to make nine three pointers in a game, the biggest thing that stuck with him about Friday night was that he and his teammates were not able to get the win.

"Honestly during the game I didn't really notice how many I had. I was just trying to put the ball in the hoop. I know that looking at the score, as well as we were playing, I felt like we should have had a bigger lead going into the half, and I really felt like we could have come away with a 'W' in that game," Anthony said. "I definitely am proud to be part of a school record, but I just wish we could have won the game."

Anthony did his best to make that happen, helping Wilmington get off to a strong start with a pair of three pointers in the first quarter and then four in the fourth quarter when the Wildcats were trying to come back. His last three pointer of the night came with 1:08 left in the game and pulled Wilmington within 61-56, but they were unable to get any closer as they suffered their fifth loss of the season against just one win.

It is not the result that Anthony or his teammates were looking for, but the senior expects his team to end up in the win column more often in the second half of the season.

"I knew going into the season we were going to have a lot younger of a team, so I knew maybe we might get off to a bit of a slower start, but I wasn't too worried," Anthony said. "I knew we would have some games against some of the bigger schools that would be tougher, but that we would have some competitive games against schools our size. Hopefully as the season goes on and we keep getting better and hopefully we are able to win some of these closer games."

Anthony has been doing everything he can to help the Wildcats cause, leading the team in both points with 15 per game, as well as rebounds with 6.5 per game. Going into Friday night's game, Anthony was third in the league in three pointers made, so there is a good chance he is first now, but what has impressed Ingram most has been his all around great play in every phase of the game.

"As good as he has been offensively he has also made an incredible commitment to the defensive side," Ingram said. "He is our leading rebounder as well as our leading scorer, and I think that is a prideful thing for him. He is not just out there chucking it. He is a complete player."

Anthony understands how important his scoring is to his team, but he also understands that it takes more than that to be the complete player Ingram was referring to.

"I think the stats that aren't recorded and the things that aren't really shown are the things that help you win games, so I think those things are most important," Anthony said.

Anthony has made great strides this season in every phase of the game. He was a key contributor to the Wildcats last season in a sixth man role, generating some instant offense off the bench, but this year he has taken his game to a new level, with Friday night's game being his best level of the season, at least to this point.

"I have just been working every day in practice honestly, putting shots up and trying to get better," Anthony said. "If my teammates can get me the ball, and I can make the shots, I know it will help us win."

Despite Anthony's performance, 'Cats fall short in competitive game with Stoneham

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

STONEHAM - Wilmington High School Boys Basketball coach Dennis Ingram has stared very often that there are certain games on his team's schedule that they are going to have to win if they hope to qualify for the state tournament. Last Friday night's road game against Middlesex League rival Stoneham certainly fell into that category.

Unfortunately for the Wildcats, despite their best efforts, they were unable to come away with a win, dropping a 65-56 decision in a well played game by both teams, dropping the Wildcats record on the season to 1-5.

Wilmington, which got a game high 35 points and ten rebounds including a school record tying nine three pointers from senior Stephen Anthony, led 30-26 at the half, but were unable to hold off a second half Spartans comeback.

Spartans comeback.

"We were right there with a chance to win," Ingram said. "We had the lead, but they played better than us and got the win. But we will see them again and we feel like we can beat them. We feel like there is some good competition with them and that is all you want is to have a chance to be able know if you play well you have chance to win."

While that is not always the case for the Wildcats this season against some of the larger Middlesex League schools, it was certainly the case against Stoneham. The Wildcats looked ready to take advantage of the opportunity in the first half, led by Anthony, along with Andrew Munsie and Chris Stokes leading by seven points late in the half, but that where the momentum began to swing.

A Wilmington foul on a three point attempt by Stoneham in the final seconds send the Spartans to the line where they converted all three shots to pull within four points at 30-26 at the half and that proved to be a turning point.

"We had a bad foul at the buzzer, so the lead went from seven to four," Ingram said. "Like one of my assistant coaches said at the half, I feel like we outplayed them by more than four points but the scoreboard didn't show it. That foul at the end was really kind of huge, so we really wanted to try and not let that be the momentum swing for Stoneham, but it kind of was."

It definitely appeared that way, as Stoneham outscored the Wildcats 19-11 in the third quarter and eventually pushed their lead to as many as 12 points with four minutes left in the game, but the Wildcats would not quit.

Midway through the fourth quarter, down by 12 and desperate to make something happen with Anthony now

MIDDLESEX LEAGUE Boys Basketball 3-point games

There have been now six recorded instances by the Daily Times Chronicle of a Middlesex League boys basketball player making 9 3-pointers in a single game after Wilmington's Stephen Anthony made nine last Friday vs. Stoneham.

The 3-point field goal was first instituted in Massachusetts high school basketball beginning in the 1987-88 season.

Vince, Fothergill and Juergens help lead boys to convincing win over Stoneham

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com
BOSTON - After starting the season out 2-0, the Wilmington High School boys' indoor track-and-field team was defeated for the first time by the reigning Division 4 Eastern Mass Champion Wakefield Warriors back on December 27th, only to rebound with a dominating win over Stoneham on Friday. The 1-1 split puts the team's record at 3-1 with one meet remaining on Tuesday night, with results not available at press time.

"We handily beat Stoneham, which was a great team win," said head coach Mike Kinney. "We won the meet 76-23, which is a testament to how strong our team is this year. Burlington and Wakefield have been one and two in Division 3 outdoor and Division 4 Indoor for the entire state for the last several years. Therefore, we are pleased to be competing with them and scoring as many points as them in league competition."

"The team has met and exceed expectations. Moving forward we want to finish 4-1 on the season, and score in the top five at the State Relay meet and the League Championship meet."

Three members of the team placed in multiple individual events to lead the way for the 'Cats in the win over Stoneham. Sam Vince was first in the 55-meter hurdles (8.93) and second in the long jump (17-00) and Mike Fothergill was also first in the long jump (18-03.50) and second in the 55-meter dash (7.26). Sam Juergens picked up two thirds, in the high jump (5-1) and long jump (16-11). The trio accounted for 18 of the team's points.

Other individual first places came from Jake Danieli in the 600 (1:31.27), Richie Stuart in the 300 (39.44), Kevin Elder in the 1,000 (2:49.20), Ben Packer in the two-mile (10:24.23), Tyler Thomas in the shot put (41-05) and Sean Riley in the high jump (5-01).

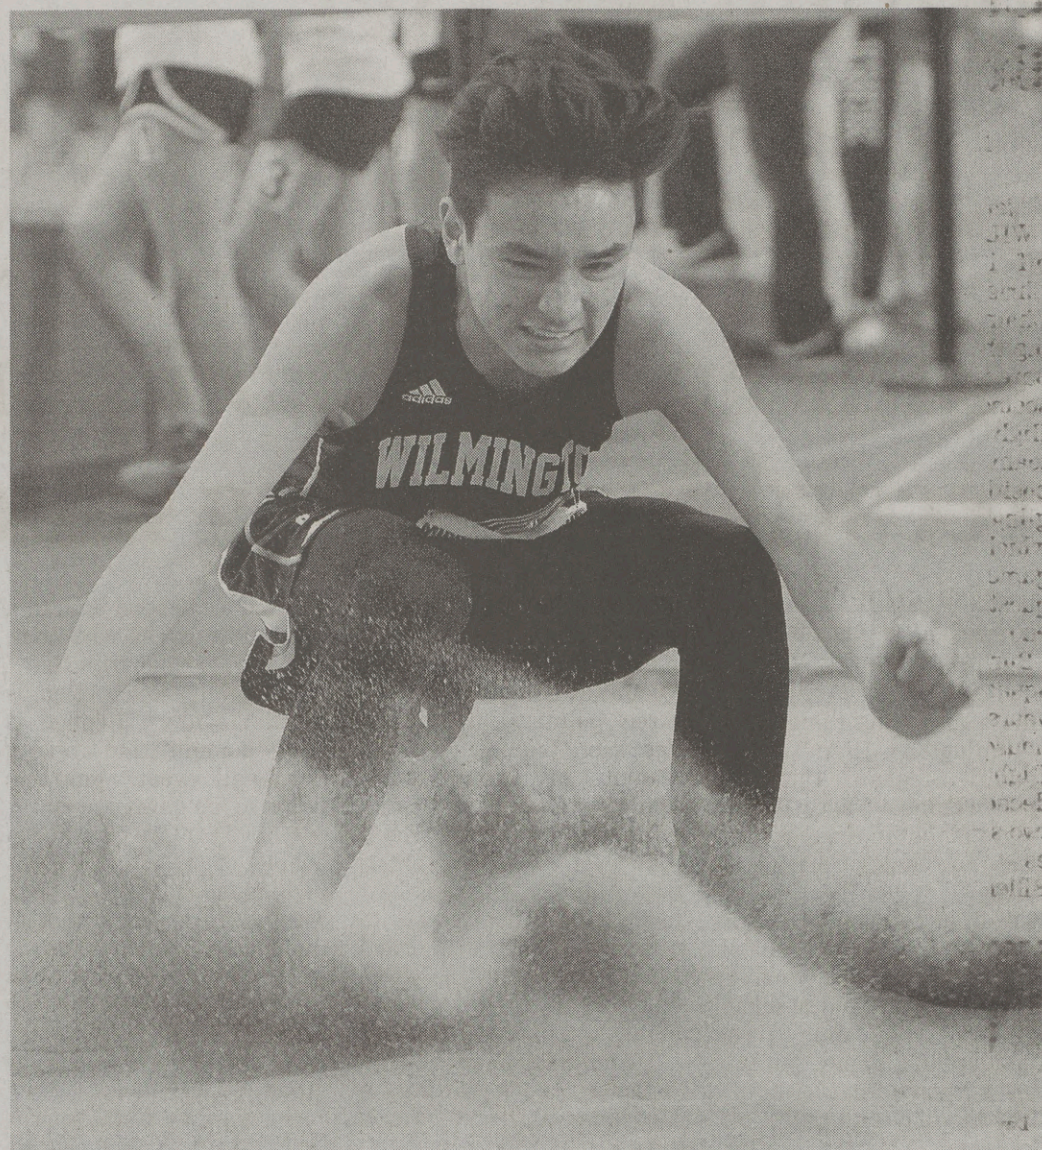

Also, both the relay teams also won. The 4x200 team had Stuart, Vince, Matt Chisholm and Fothergill finish at a combined time of 1:37.48 and the 4x400 team had Danieli, Max Duong and Brian and Kevin Elder come in at 3:44.98.

Second places were earned by Greg Adamek in the mile (4:42.38), Vincent De La Cruz in the 600 (1:32.15), Brian Elder in the 1,000 (2:51.46), Max Duong in the 300 (41.18) and Dan Maenza in the two-mile (11:42.28).

Nolan Kennedy scored a point by taking a third in the mile (4:55.10).

In the loss to Wakefield, Wilmington managed just two first places.

"We knew they were going to be tough and we were coming off a big win against Burlington the previous week," said Kinney. "A few athletes were sick and we came out a little flat. I thought we would score a few more points than we did. Their depth in the distance and sprinting events proved to be a little too much for us to handle. That being said, we did get some solid performances from a few seniors and juniors."

Wilmington High's Sam Juergens flies through the air (left) before making his landing while competing in the long jump during the team's dual meet held on December 26th at Boston University. (photos by Nicole Goodhue Boyd).

Senior captain Tyler Thomas highlighted the team's performance with a first place in the shot put, throwing a personal best of 42-11.

"He has been experimenting with the rotational approach as opposed to the glide style of throwing," explained Kinney. "This usually takes a lot of practice. The technique can usually generate more power and distance if done correctly, but can also be more risky because it is more difficult to maintain balance. He has been doing a great job in addressing the finer details of throwing at practice."

The other first place came from Sam Vince, who was clocked at 8.67 seconds in the 55-meter hurdles.

"He remains undefeated in the league and has been great under pressure this season," said the coach.

Although he didn't win and finished second in the mile at 4:38.64, Adamek ran a terrific race in the mile.

"It was a personal best time and state qualifying time," said Kinney.

Ben Packer also qualified for the state meet with his second place finish in the two-mile, coming in at 10:20.05.

"He continues to perform at a very high level," said Kinney.

Kevin Elder had a personal best and state qualifying time of 2:46.01 to finish second in the 1,000, while Mike Fothergill was second in the long jump at 17-01 and Juergens was tied for second in the high jump, clearing 5-

This past Saturday at the annual Auerbach Freshman/Sophomore Meet, Sean Riley stole the show by taking first overall in the 600-meters with a time of 1:28.16.

"His time was a personal record and it qualifies him for the State meet as well. The next closest runner to him was three seconds back. This was a state meet, so his victory was an outstanding accomplishment. It has been quite some time since we have seen a sophomore run as well as Sean has been lately. He is an outstanding student, a hard-working athlete, and an individual who demonstrates all the characteristics we are looking for in student athletes."

"It was great to see Sean win and go to the podium. His hard work and consistency has paid off and should continue to pay off for him in the future. He is really a pleasure to work with and is a positive role model for the other members of the team."

Juergens finished 15th in the long jump (17-00.50) and 21st in the 55-meter hurdles (9.96). Sullivan finished 20th in both the 55-meter dash (7.24) and long jump (16-05.00) and Joe DeMoura was 18th in the high jump (5-0) and 19th in the 600 (1:39.01).

Also competing included Sean Lydon, who was 44th in the mile at 5:20.86 and Ethan Yuen, who was 72nd in the 300 at 47.43.

Finally the 4x200 relay team of DeMoura, Riley, Juergens and Sullivan finished 10th with a combined time of 1:45.36.

Boys Hoop team falls to Stoneham

having four fouls, Wilmington made an adjustment and went full court press and started to foul Stoneham.

"It was kind of a risk, but they ended up missing a bunch of foul shots," Ingram said. "That got us back into the game."

Anthony, who made four of his nine three pointers in the fourth quarter, nailed his last one with 1:08 left in the game to cut the lead to five at 61-56. Wilmington then forced a turnover, and got a great look at a wide open three, but it did not go down and Stoneham started making their foul shots down the stretch to account for the 65-56 final.

While this was a game the Wildcats would dearly have loved to win, for many reasons, Ingram remained upbeat after the game, confident that his players would be able to learn from the defeat.

"We were able to take some positives out of it. I know it is cliché for a coach to say they are trying to get better every game, but really that is what the situation is for us," Ingram said. "It is difficult to play some of the larger schools and be down by double digits early and often, but I think our seniors, Stephen and Chris Stokes have done a good job letting these younger guys know that we are going to be OK, and that this is the way the league is. And we were right there with Stoneham in this one."

"We are facing the iron right now, but all these reps will just make us better as the season goes on."

On Tuesday night, the Wildcats took on one of the teams that would definitely qualify as the iron of the Middlesex League when they hosted Winchester High, and they suffered and 80-27 defeat. The score was tied at 9-9 at the end of the first quarter, but Winchester went into a full court press in the second quarter and blew the game open, taking a 41-17 lead at halftime.

Wilmington was led by 9 points and 12 rebounds by Anthony.

The Wildcats will be back in action on Friday night when they take on Middlesex League rival Watertown in a road game with a 7:00 pm tipoff.

Wilmington will remain on the road with stops at Arlington on Tuesday and Cristo Rey on Wednesday, before coming back home on the 18th to face Melrose.

Cuozzo comes up big in the net, but Burlington comes away with the 'W'

By JAMIE POTE

jamiepote@hotmail.com
WILMINGTON - Coming off its exciting Haverhill Christmas Tournament Championship title and having the next six days to prepare for its next opponent, it seemed as if the Wilmington High School boys' hockey team would be in a prime position to knock off a struggling Burlington squad, which came into Saturday's game with just two wins and questions on the defensive end.

Burlington, a Division 1A squad two of the last three years, and simply a powerhouse in Massachusetts High School Hockey for decades, were coming off two straight non-league losses to Barnstable and Billerica, giving up ten combined goals.

Wilmington wasn't able to exploit those defensive flaws, playing well in the first five or six minutes before struggling for most of the remaining two-plus periods and the Red Devils went on to win 2-1.

The win - coupled with a 6-2 non-league win over Arlington Catholic on Monday night, puts Burlington at 4-4-0 overall, while the 'Cats fall to 4-3-0 overall and 2-3-0 in the league, tied for third in the league with Stoneham with Wakefield in last, but Melrose is in front of the 'Cats by five points.

"I thought the difference in the game was the ability to handle the puck," said head coach Steve Scanlon. "We turned the puck over unforced a lot and they secure the puck and that's a big problem for when you are a man-up and things like that. You are just giving the puck away. With these guys, there's a lot of mystique with Burlington. They have always been so powerful, yet sometimes maybe you give them too much respect. We wake up to start the third period and we're playing with them.

"I really don't think we played all that well and had we (you never know). We were still right in it until the end of the game."

Certainly Wilmington was able to keep it a one-goal game because of the absolute phenomenal performance by junior goalie Anthony Cuozzo. He turned away 29 shots, including many flashy ones with his glove, and also made a brilliant pad save on a breakaway in the second period to highlight just two of his many terrific stops.

"Oh, he certainly (had a great game). Anthony was very good," said Scanlon. "He kept us in the game and he made some really good saves. He allowed us to stay in it."

The game was scoreless late in the first period. After Cuozzo made a big stop on a quick shot from the low slot area off the stick of Zach Auble, Burlington was able to slip one by as Sean Savage took a shot from the right point and the puck was deflected in front and landed in the back of the net for the 1-0 lead.

The teams seemed to have played a more open second period with Burlington holding a 16-10 advantage in the shot department. Right out of the gates, Wilmington captain Connor Benoit had a great bid but his shot from the low left slot area went off the shoulder of starting goalie Joey Trabucco, who came out of the game minutes later with an apparent leg injury. Michael Morcos came in and Wilmington started to pelt him with shots, including a handful of rebounds but still weren't able to tie the game up.

Cuozzo came up with the breakaway stop, and that followed as Ryan Barrett fed Andrew Sullivan, who quickly dished it off to his right to Benoit, who again got denied with a nice kick out save.

Cuozzo again came up with a big save on a cross pass through the crease with about 2:40 to go. Less than a minute later, Wilmington tied the game up as Jared Venezia came streaking through the Burlington end and his backhand was saved, but Joe Hill pounced on the rebound to tie the game up at 1-1.

Both teams had power play chances starting in the final 1:03 of the period for Burlington. Then with 13:27 left in the third for the 'Cats, but neither team really got anything going. Less than three minutes after killing off their penalty, Burlington struck as Conor Quinlan made a great pass from behind the net to Joe Barbieri, who quickly one-timed the puck for the game winner.

Wilmington went on another power play with 5:12 to go and the best chance came off the stick of Venezia, whose shot from the low slot went high off the stick of Morcos.

The 'Cats couldn't get possession into the Burlington end until real late, and Cuozzo was pulled for the extra skater with 45 seconds remaining and the best chance came when Morcos made another stick save on a shot from Hill with about 23 seconds left.

"We had too many guys who didn't play well," said Scanlon. "The effort was there. We played good in spurts. (After playing well in the first five or six minutes of the game) we stopped skating. As soon as we stop skating and stop moving our feet, we struggle."

Wilmington faced Wakefield (1-4-1) on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime and will travel to face Stoneham (3-3-0) on Saturday at 4:00 pm. The Spartans knocked the 'Cats out of the state tournament last year in the sectional semi-finals, and went on to beat Boston Latin in the sectional final before losing in the Division 2 state championship game to Plymouth South in overtime.

Defeated by Stoneham, 51-49, to fall to 0-4

Girls Track team barely edged out once again

By JAMIE POTE

jamiapote@hotmail.com
BOSTON - Looking for their first win of the season, the Wilmington High School girls' indoor track-and-field team was barely edged out by Stoneham, 51-49, last Friday at the Boston University Track. The loss puts the Wildcats at 0-4 on the season with one dual meet left, held Tuesday night against Watertown with results not known as of presstime.

"Another very close and tough loss and definitely one we would like to have back," said head coach Brian Schell. "A lot of kids participated in new events because they had the Freshmen/Sophomore Invitational the next day, so I did my best to lessen their workload. However, much like every team Stoneham doubled their top kids up to beat us."

"As we keep inching closer to beating teams, it shows of a bright future. The biggest thing comes from our opponents doubling up their seniors while I continue to strengthen the depth. The younger kids are getting more experience and having these scores this close is showing great progression in their training."

Several individuals stood out in this meet including Maggie Bourgeois and Gianna Misuraca. Bourgeois was second in the 300-meters with a time of 46.05 seconds and then came back for a 28.8 second split as the anchor leg of the winning 4x200 relay race along with Amanda Broussard, Katie McLaughlin and Amber Flynn with a combined time of 1:56.00.

"With a tough back-to-back days of meets coming, I had Maggie run the 300-meters for the first time with her primary event being the 600-meters," said Schell. "I have been stressing to her to get out hard in the 600 so using this meet was a great opportunity to build on that. She simply looked flawless the entire race with great form, power in her stride and solid finish."

Misuraca was first in the two-mile with a time of 13:17.

"She came off a great race at the distance classic breaking 13 minutes for the first time," said Schell. "While telling her to go easier today and just go for the first place, the Stoneham girl sat on her the entire race and had a huge 50 second personal record."

"To see Gianna in this type of situation this season and being tough holding her off made it one of her best races. Having this type of pressure the hole race pushed her to have better splits and even a great overall time showing consistency."

Other first places came from Emma Garrity in the 600 (1:40.93), Hannah LaVita in the high jump (5-0), Amie Russell in the shot put (29-9), McLaughlin in the long jump (14-4) and the 4x400 relay team of Evelyn Miller-Nuzzo, Ashlyn Buckley, LaVita and Garrity, who had a combined time of 4:32.

Second places were earned by Buckley in the 55-meter dash with a personal record time of 8.32 seconds and Julia Patrone in the high jump, clearing 4-8.

Third places were taken by Kiki Barnum in the 55-meter hurdles (11.1), Miller-Nuzzo in the 600 (1:50.56), Samantha Burke in the 1,000 (3:41) and Flynn in the 300 (47.54).

On Saturday, Wilmington participated in the annual Auerbach Small School Freshmen/Sophomore Invitational Meet held at the Reggie Lewis Center in Roxbury. The top performance on the day belonged to the 4x400 relay team of Broussard, McLaughlin, Flynn and Bourgeois, who finished with a combined time of 4:32.4.

"Coming into the meet we knew we had a good shot at medaling," said Schell. "While it was not their best splits that they are capable of, the two meets in two days you can tell was tough on them. Each of them had four events total both days with Katie having six. Amanda led off with a solid 65 (second) split putting us in great position. Katie (68 split) and Amber (69 split) both kept strong on their legs for Maggie (68 split) to anchor and holding us in position with a strong finish."

"I am happy these girls were able to put it all together on a tough weekend. They are a young tough group of girls and I know for Maggie and Katie to avenge themselves from last spring that they are happy too."

Above left, Amanda Broussard in action while competing in the 600 and to the right is Angie Ciampa in the two-mile during the team's dual meet held on December 26th at BU.

In the mile, Carissa Rubin finished 54th at 6:18.82 and was followed by 63rd Olivia Erler at 6:29.58. In the 600, Bourgeois had a personal record time of 1:49.72 to finish 12th as did Flynn at 1:57.09 to take 41st, while Shea Cushing finished at 2:13.32 for 79th place.

In the 1,000 meters, Ciampa crossed the line 59th at 3:52.85 with Gianna Spada behind her in 73rd place at 4:03.72. In the 300, Broussard was clocked at 45.03, a personal record and a 15th place finish with McLaughlin at 49.26, good for 58th place. In the 55-meter hurdles, it was Aaliyah Abel at 11.54 and Miriam Nelson at 12.37, taking 55th and 67th, respectively.

In the 55-meter dash, Ashlyn Buckley was 41st at 8.34 and Quinn Proulx was 91st at 8.94. The 4x200 'B' team of Quinn, Buckley, Anja Jensen and Abel were 19th at 2:02.69. In the long jump, McLaughlin was 21st at 13-11.75 and Lauren Giuliana was 34th at 12-6.50. In the shot put, Chase Andersen was 28th at 24-4.50, a personal record and Kaili Lamb was 56th, throwing 21-5.50.

On Saturday, the WHS Girls' Track 4x400 relay team finished sixth at the annual Auerbach Freshmen/Sophomore Small School Meet. The foursome includes Amanda Broussard, Katie McLaughlin, Amber Flynn and Maggie Bourgeois.

Girls Hoop adds three wins, now 5-2 on the season

By MIKE IPPOLITO

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WINCHESTER -- The Wilmington High Girls Basketball team has been on quite a roll as of late and that continued this past week with two more big wins over Middlesex League rivals Stoneham and Winchester, with both wins coming on the road.

The Wildcats downed Stoneham last Friday night by a score of 47-27, before hitting the road again on Tuesday and blowing out Winchester by a score of 65-29 to improve their record on the season to 5-2.

Prior to their two big Middlesex League wins, the Wildcats had started their winning streak with 47-33 win over non-league rival Tantasqua back on February 28. In that contest, against the reigning Division 2 West Sectional Finalists, Wilmington led by just two points, at 20-18 at the half, but gained some separation in the third quarter to lead 36-29 heading into the fourth.

Wilmington was then able to close out their non-league opponent by limiting them to four fourth quarter points.

Jenna Tavanese led the way for the Wildcats with 21 points and six steals, while Kylie Ducharme had a double-double with 15 points and 13 rebounds.

The Wildcats continued their strong defensive play in their next game against Stoneham, limiting the Spartans to just nine points at the half, and 14 points at the end of three quarters on their way to the 47-27 win. Ducharme had another double-double with a career high 19 points to go along with ten rebounds, while Tavanese chipped in 13 points, three steals and four assists.

"Once again we got it done on the defensive end through three quarters, limiting Stoneham to 14 points," Wilmington coach Jessica Robinson said. "It was a great team effort in the third quarter. We outscored them 21-5."

Most recently the Wildcats completely dominated Winchester from start to finish on Tuesday night on their way to a 65-29 victory. The Wildcats led 20-10 at the end of one quarter, but blew open the game in the second quarter by outscoring the Sachems 24-2 on their way to a 44-12 halftime lead.

The Sachems only two points in the frame came on a pair of free throws, Tavanese and Ducharme had 19 points each in the win.

Wilmington returns to action with a trip to Watertown on Friday for a 5:15 pm scheduled tip-off which will be followed by three straight home games with Arlington (6:00 pm) on Tuesday, Melrose (5:15 pm) on the 18th and Weston (5:30 pm) in a non-league game on the 23rd.

Wrestling team's fifth place finish worth every 'Penney'

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

After a less than stellar performance at the Framingham Holiday Tournament two weeks ago, the Wilmington High Wrestling team entered this past Saturday's Cohasset Invitational Tournament at Cohasset High School eager to redeem themselves against some quality competition from the South Shore.

Thanks to some outstanding efforts throughout their roster, the Wildcats were able to do just that. While they placed only fifth out of eight teams in the tournament, that hardly tells the whole story of the Wildcats day, as they put up 112 points on the day, with one wrestler winning his weight class, while they also had three runner ups and one third place finisher.

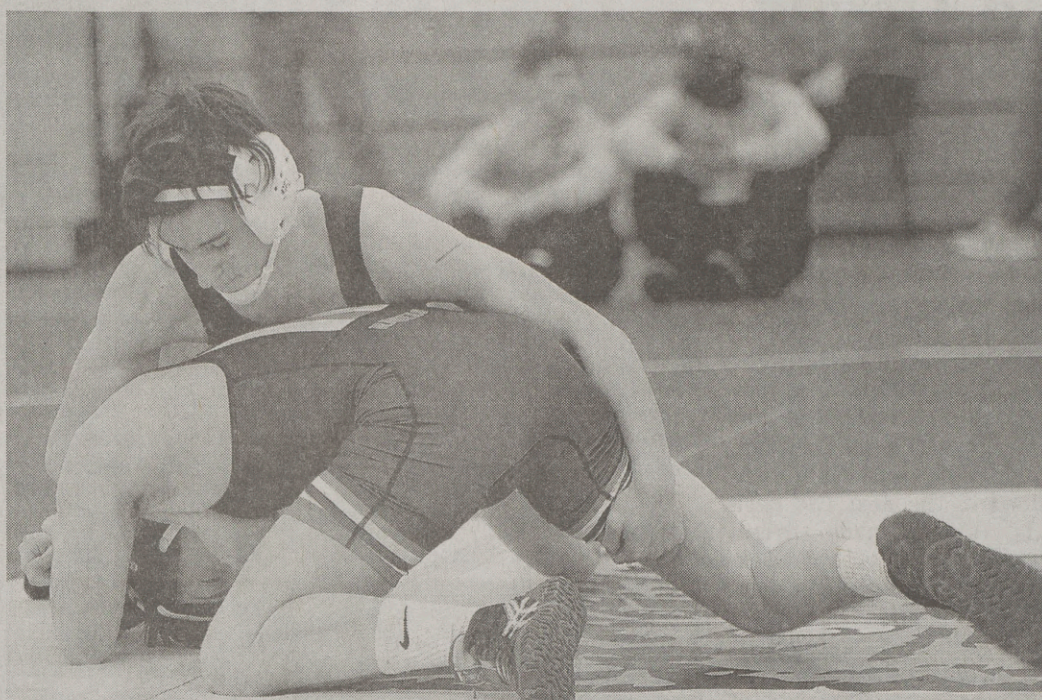

Tri-County Regional won the meet with 218.5 points, while host Cohasset was second with 179 points.

Wilmington coach Joel McKenna was happy to see his team rebound against some quality foes at the tournament.

"It is a good tournament with some tough competition," McKenna said. "We got some good performances out of a lot of kids. We had a lot of kids wrestling with confidence, which we always like to see."

Leading the way for the Wildcats was sophomore Shane Penney, who earned a first place finish at 120 pounds, pinning Matthew Dowd of Tri-County in the semi-finals in just 50 seconds. He followed that up with another quick pin in the finals, this time in a time of 1:24 over Thomas McDonough of Hanover to give him the first tournament championship of brief high school career.

"Shane has been a finalist in three or four different tournaments last season and then one other tournament this year, so it was great to see him finally win," McKenna said. "No matter what the size of the tournament, it can be difficult to break through and win, so we were very happy for him."

"He's wrestling with a lot more confidence now, and that is the big difference for him between last year and this year. He expects to go out and do well."

Junior Jacob Bernard also had a big day for the Wildcats, advancing to the finals at 113 pounds before finally being stopped by Tyler Nguyen of Plymouth North. On his way to the finals, Bernard had pinned Aidan Kinsella of Nauset in the quarterfinals in a time of 52 seconds before taking a 7-2 decision over Joe Nicholson in the semifinals.

"This was another step forward or him, because it was his first time advancing to the finals," McKenna said. "Again, some kids are unable to ever take that step. At times Jake can out too much pressure on himself because he wants to be so successful, so this was a very big thing for him. We were happy to see him accomplish this and now he can move on to his next goal of winning a tournament."

Sophomore Joe Ganley at 126 pounds and senior Nick Kullman at 195 pounds each also advanced to the finals before being eliminated, and once again McKenna was happy to see another pair of wrestlers do so well for the Wildcats.

"Joe is another kid who has placed in several tournaments, including in the sectional tournament last year, but he had never made it to the finals. Joe is a kid who works hard and wants to set an example for his teammates, so it is great to see him have that kind of success," McKenna said. "Nick had to take two weeks off due to an injury, so for him to come back after the injury with that kind of performance was just a great job by him."

ing off with some good results."

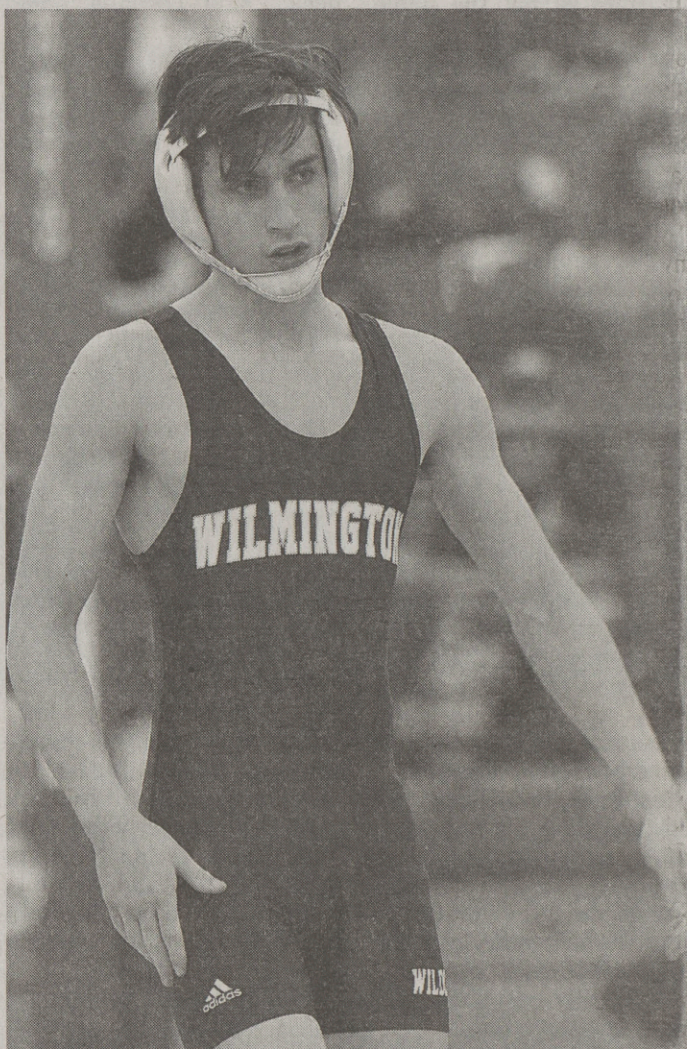

The final place winner for the Wildcats was sophomore Stephen Smolinsky, who went 2-2 with two pins on the day and earned a fourth place finish at 160 pounds. The transfer student from Malden Catholic has been fitting in quite nicely with his new team, and McKenna and the Wildcats are happy to have him as part of their roster this season.

"Stephen was in one of the tougher weight classes, and he still managed to place," McKenna said. "Stephen is really grateful for his success. He took a lot of lumps his freshman year at Malden Catholic, and I think he is enjoying his time here with us. He is such an intelligent and hard working kid. He won ten matches all of last year as a freshman, and he has already won 15 for us this year, so he has made great improvement."

Junior Ryan Murphy went 1-2 on the day, and earned a fifth place finish at 220 pounds, with his one win on the day coming by pin over Donovan Dailey of Hanover in a time of 3:36.

The Wildcats were back in action on Wednesday night, hosting Middlesex League rival Watertown, with the results not available as of press time, and will next take to the mat on Saturday when they host a super quad meet against Milford, Beverly, Brookline, Leominster and Josiah Quincy.

Hayden and DeRose help 'Cats to put a fork in the Red Devils

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School girls' hockey team continued to take big steps forward with a 4-0 win at home on Saturday against Burlington, followed up with a 2-2 non-league tie against Arlington Catholic on Monday night, and then falling to Wakefield 2-1 on Tuesday night.

The 1-1-1 week puts the Wildcats at 3-5-2 overall, and 2-3-1 in the league.

In the home matinee against a winless Burlington squad, Wilmington had a 1-0 lead before adding two goals in the second and another in the third to put the game away. Zoe DeRose led the way with two goals, while junior goalie Melanie Hayden was stellar, especially early on making a total of 14 saves to record the shut out.

"It's nice to get two wins in the division," said head coach John LaPiana. "The first period we went in with the 1-0 (lead) and we felt like we should have had more (goals) but we felt like we had more pressure around the net, which we don't ordinarily have, we had shots on net and we also had girls taking away the goalie's eyes. Those are all things that we have been working on, as well as a million of other things."

"They were able to use it today and hopefully they will make it a part of their game plan going forward."

Certainly the donut for Hayden was a big highlight, but it seems like DeRose is emerging as an offensive star as she has continued to improve her game by leaps and bounds.

"She really has, she really has," said the coach.

Leading 2-0 late in the second period, and just after Wilmington couldn't muster any shots on net on a power play, DeRose blocked a shot just inside the 'Cats blue line on the right side. The puck squirted ahead and DeRose chased after it. As she was able to get her stick on it, she kept the puck on her backhand, to her left side, all the while fighting off a defender, before inching out some space, allowing her to turn the puck to her forehand and roof a perfectly placed wrist shot to the top left corner making it 3-0.

"We have been working on protecting the puck with drills at practice and we tell them 'cut to the middle, cut to the middle', so basically you protect the puck and you are keeping your opponent inbetween you and the puck," said LaPiana. "We were yelling for her to cut to the middle and she must have thought back to practices, and she cut to the middle, picked her head up, saw a spot and just a really nice finish, and all-around (play)."

Then with 6:30 left in the third, she scored her second of the game on a nice wrist shot from the left circle which went inside the far right corner to make it 4-0.

Earlier, senior defenseman Jocelyn Palmer scored her first goal of the season. Lia Kourkoutas had the puck in the left hand corner and sent a pass back to the point to Palmer. She took advantage of some empty space, moved ahead a few strides before unleashing a wrist shot to the far side for what ended up to be the game winning goal.

LaPiana was asked if he is more confident now that the team has scored 16 goals at that point of the season compared to 11 in the first seven games of last year's season.

"I wouldn't say confident, but I certainly see some bright spots," he answered. "There are still some fundamental things that we are trying to improve upon, like pick your head up before you shoot. There's still a lot of fundamental things that we are working on and there's still some fundamental things that we are lacking so we are trying to teach the game as best as possible."

Wilmington was able to preserve that 1-0 lead in the first behind the strong play of Hayden. Burlington was able to get six shots on net, compared to just eight combined in the next two periods. Hayden made several gem stops, one off her blocker, and a beautiful one making a low stick save on a shot that had 'bottom left corner written all over it'.

"There were a couple of times when (Burlington) had pressure on us and I wasn't happy with but I suppose that's going to happen over the course of a game," said the coach. "Melanie works so hard on her game. She is so dedicated and so focused and I'm very happy for her (to get the shut out)."

"Sometimes I feel like shots are going to go in but it doesn't (happen) and she usually does that once or twice a game. She makes saves that she probably shouldn't make. She is really quick with her pad. Sometimes (opposing players) will slide the puck across the ice on the opposite direction, and I'm amazed with how quickly she gets her pad on it."

Early in the second, Wilmington made it 2-0 as Amanda Mercier was at the right point and sent a shot towards the net which was deflected in by Gabriella Daniels. DeRose then added her two goals to end the scoring, and give Wilmington it's third win and seventh point in nine games at the time.

"I'm not surprised because over the course of several seasons (since I've been here) we have been climbing the ladder," said LaPiana. "We only have 16 girls on the team and two of them are eighth graders so I don't want to say that I'm surprised, but let's just say that we still have a long way to go but at this point of the season I am pleased."

In the tie with AC (3-6-1), Ida Bishop scored both goals.

On Tuesday night, Wilmington played its third game in four days, losing to Wakefield 2-1, in a thrilling contest at home. Bishop scored the lone goal, while Kourkoutas hit the crossbar right before the final buzzer went off.

Wilmington will be on the road game at Stoneham (4-3-1) on Saturday before traveling to face a winless Watertown team next Wednesday.

"In high school hockey anything can happen and in girls high school hockey, that's the case even more so," said LaPiana. "What's coming up immediately on our schedule, if we play well, we should be competitive. As long as it's competitive, we want to come out with points. We have a goal and the goal is to come away with a minimum of 20 points (to qualify for the state tournament)."

"We have been competitive with every team with the exception of Reading and they are a really good team."

Pee Wee 2's get matched up with Concord-Carlisle, while Bantam 1's win again

The Wilmington Pee Wee 2 youth hockey team was back at it Saturday morning in Nashua where they took on another division rival in the 9-6-1 Concord Carlisle Patriots. Coach Todd Flynn's Wildcats took their impressive 11-4 record into this one proud owners of a lopsided 6-1 defeat of these same Patriots earlier in the season. But as Coach Flynn quickly reminded his team, all that means is that Concord Carlisle would be looking for revenge. An evenly played first period saw both teams generate nearly opportunities as Wilmington's line of Matthew Newhouse, Connor Lynch, and Ryan Flynn lead the attack on the Patriots side of the building. Corrine Foley and Nick DiGiovanni anchored things for the blue-liners all morning, along with fellow defensemen Derek Sun and Aaron Tarr completing a wall defense. Wilmington goaltender Dylan Ward has been able to breathe easy behind all season.

After trading scoring chances late in the period the Patriots would light the lamp first with only 21 seconds left to spare before teams switched sides. Foley and Sun did all they could to slow down the Concord Carlisle winger as he broke free and lifted one that beat Ward just over the left shoulder.

The Patriots struck again at 9:43 of the second period when another wrist-shot found its way thru Dylan's pads. Leading 2-0 at just about the halfway point in this one Concord Carlisle had awoken the sleeping giant. The Wildcats turned up the energy right away and quickly took one back when Ryan Flynn, parked out front, banked home a juicy rebound from a Jake Carr bomb to make it a one goal game with a period left to play.

The third period saw both teams lay it on the line with their respective defenses shining brighter as the minutes fell away. The Devin Medeiros, Aaden Caralis and Ryan Weinstein line worked their heart out with shot after shot being turned away by the stellar Patriot goaltender. For Wilmington it was Aaron Tarr and Nick DiGiovanni coming up big at their position as both boys stepped up multiple times to snuff out scoring chances in their own zone. As the horn sounded, the score of 2-1 stood. The Wildcats could only watch as the crimson and gold-covered Patriots rejoiced in their revenge.

BANTAM 1's

Wilmington's Bantam 1 hockey team started off the new year on the right foot with a convincing 4-1 win over the Triboro Titans on Sunday morning at the Chelmsford forum.

In a first time matchup both teams came to play and hit the ice skating hard. The Wildcats moved the puck well with some nice passing and good pressure in the offensive zone but were unable to score in the opening frame. Triboro didn't have much luck either although they did catch Wilmington up ice at one point and ended up with a 3 on 0. Justin Finnegan came up with a huge save, one of many on the day, to keep the game scoreless after one.

The second period however, was a much different story, Wilmington lit the lamp early and often. Just under a minute in, Cam Gagnon won the puck in the neutral zone, carried it into the Titan's end and sniped a rocket wrist shot under the crossbar on the shortside to give the Wildcats a 1-0 lead. Center Michael Sullivan and wingmates, Nick Spencer and Dylan Mullarky all played great and nearly scored one as well. Triboro's goalie had his hands full as Wilmington continued to attack and at 7:43, Bobby Dodge kept the puck in at the line and made a nice pass off the boards to Gagnon. Gagnon ripped a hard shot along the ice from the top of the circle that beat the Titans goalie, 5-hole, and put the Cats up 2-0.

Triboro battled back only to be shut down by the solid defense of Ryan Murray, Jacob Smith and Ryan Bornstein along with William LaMonica and Jack Andersen. Any attempts that did get by the powerhouse defense were promptly handled by Finnegan.

Then with 3:20 to go, Dodge fed a pass up to Brett Gallucci who tapped it on to Gagnon, he split the Titan's defense, made a nice backhand/forehand move and capped his hat trick with a pretty goal that gave Wilmington a 3-0 lead.

The Titans desperately fought back and were able to score late in the period to close it out with the Wildcats on top 3-1.

Third period action was very physical as Triboro did everything they could to try to get back in the game. The Wildcats didn't budge and answered with some strong clean hits from Alex Burns, Murray, Bornstein and others.

Halfway through the period in the defensive zone, hard work in the corner from Chris Patterson and Andersen allowed William O'Shea to dig the puck out. O'Shea streaked up the middle of the ice into the attacking zone, around the defensemen and scorched a quick wrist shot over the glove of the Titans goalie to give Wilmington a 4-1 lead. Mike Maselli played strong on that line as well.

The Wildcats clamped down both offensively and defensively and finished what they came to do. Finnegan made some flashy saves down the home stretch which sealed the impressive 4-1 win bumping Wilmington into first place in their division with a 9-3-2 record.

Five tips to avoid overdoing it with New Year's fitness resolutions

By GREG CROSSMAN
Guest Columnist

Every year we see patients come into the clinic who had the best intentions with New Year's resolutions to get in shape, but who, instead, end up injured. We've seen muscle strains, tendonitis, back injuries, and even tendon and muscle tears in people who overdo it with their fitness resolutions. So whether your plan is to run more, lift more, or do more yoga, here are some tips to reduce the likelihood that you will suffer a setback due to injury.

So here's five tips to avoid overdoing it with New Year's fitness resolutions

1. Make stretching part of your routine.

Often, especially with running and weight lifting, people don't plan an appropriate amount of time for stretching. You should allow enough time for a short, light stretch before exercise, and 5-10 minutes for more thorough stretching after your workout.

2. Ease into it. Trying to jump back into the same kind of workouts you did ten years ago is a sure way to get hurt. Take it slow and gradually build up your workouts. This will give your body time to adjust to your new program.

3. Build a well-rounded routine.

Running, lifting weights or even yoga every day is not good for your body. If you tend to be a tighter, less flexible person, look to incorporate stretching into your regular routine. If you tend to be more flexible, add some strength training. Building balance between strength and flexibility will help your body be more resilient and reduce your likelihood of injury.

4. Be careful with group classes.

Though group classes are a great way to work out because they are fun, motivating and reasonably priced, be careful when working out in the group setting. Especially around the new year, there tends to be a big influx in people signing up for these classes.

If the trainer hasn't assessed you, they may not know what exercises your body can and can't do. Also, be careful if you have a competitive nature. The person next to you may be lifting a 60 pound dumbbell overhead, but that doesn't mean you should too!

5. Get a movement assessment.

Starting up a new fitness routine without a clear understanding of your specific deficits in strength, flexibility and balance will make your workouts less efficient and can lead to injury. Many personal trainers and all physical therapists are trained to assess your fundamental functional movements.

Find a trainer or PT near you who offers movement screens. The small price in time and money you spend will pay off in the long run.

Happy New Year and good luck with your fitness goals!

If you have any questions or would like more information on setting up a movement screen please contact Greg at Complete Game Physical Therapy, 978-710-7204 or gregcrossman@completegamept.com.

Adam Fuller leaves Marshall after six seasons

Former Tewksbury High Football player named the DC at University of Memphis

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

jamiepote@hotmail.com

Back in the fall of 1993, Adam Fuller was a member of the Tewksbury Memorial High School Football team. He was known for being a good hard-nosed player, who went on to have a terrific career at Sacred Heart University. During his collegiate career, he earned Football Gazette All-American honors as a line-backer in 1996 and led the team in defensive tackles for two straight years. As a senior, he was named the team's captain, and also served the same role at the National All-Star Bowl held in Cleveland, Ohio.

Now 25 years later after hanging up his Redmen uniform and 21 years after wearing a Sacred Heart University jersey, Fuller will be wearing the University of Memphis Tigers colors and attire, as he was recently named as the team's new Defensive Coordinator under head coach Mike Novell.

Fuller has been a collegiate football coach since 1998, working for six different programs, including the previous six years with Marshall, in a number of different roles, including DC this past season. He replaces previous Memphis DC Chris Ball, who left Memphis to become the head coach at Northern Arizona University. Memphis finished this past season with an 8-6 overall record, including losing to previously unbeaten Central Florida in the American Athletic Conference championship game and then were defeated by Wake Forest in the Birmingham Bowl, 37-34.

"We are so very excited about the addition of Adam Fuller to the Memphis Tigers football family," Norvell said in a press release. "Adam is one of the top defensive minds in college football and has been part of developing some of college football's top defensive units throughout his career. Coach Fuller will bring an aggressive and detailed approach to our Memphis defense. It will put our student-athletes in positions to showcase all their skills and talents, while also being developed at the highest level."

Marshall ranked in the Football Bowl Subdivision's (FBS) top-35 in more than 30 defensive categories, including ranking ninth in rushing defense (104.2), eighth in total sacks (42) and 16th in takeaways (24). Fuller's defense was one of just three in the nation (Clemson and Northern Illinois as the others) to not allow a 100-yard rusher in any of its games in 2018. Seven of his players earned Conference USA postseason honors this year.

The Memphis defense allowed 31.9 points and 428 combined yards of offense per game, whereas Marshall allowed 21.8 points and 338 yards per game.

Soon after Ball resigned and Marshall's season had ended, Norvell and Fuller connected and after interviews and meetings lasting about ten days, he was offered the position with the Tigers.

"This was certainly a hard decision and it wasn't an easy one to make," said Fuller, through a telephone interview on Monday night while he was in Texas, wrapping up interviews to assemble his own staff of assistants to work under him. "I have to move my family once again. It's a great opportunity and Mike has been super successful at Memphis. It's a great location, it's great location for recruiting, and the success he has had (made it appealing). I gained so much more respect for him throughout this entire process, and I feel very fortunate to be given this opportunity."

When Fuller's playing days had ended, he knew that he wanted to stay in the game, but wasn't sure in what capacity. He explained that he never had a true mentor throughout his high school and collegiate playing days, and that feeling continued in his first year of coaching, serving as the linebackers coach at WPI in 1998.

"There was no consistent mentor," he said. "The guy who recruited me to play at Sacred Heart was let go my second year, and after my first year of coaching at WPI, the head coach there was let go, so I had a bunch of different coaches."

After that 1998 season with WPI, Fuller was seeking to find new employment. Henry Quinlan, who was on the coaching staff at SHU during Fuller's second season, was on the staff at Wagner College. He spoke to Fuller about a graduate assistant job. Fuller went to meet the head coach at the time, Walt Hameline (who served for 34 years, retiring after the 2014 season).

"They interviewed ten other guys and Walt said to me, 'I want to pick someone else, but Henry really believes in you (so you got it)'. Walt became that figure and that mentor," said Fuller. "He was also the school's athletic director and he is just someone who I have the utmost respect for with the way he worked, how he recruited, his true passion for football and with the aggressive way that he coached. Immediately working with him, it all hit me and everything he has taught me will forever stay with me the rest of my life."

Fuller served on the Wagner College staff from 1999 to 2004 as defensive line, linebacker and secondary aide before being promoted to co defensive coordinator in 2004. He coached the career-leading punt returner in the program's history, while his defense earned national top-10 finishes in both 2002 and 2003.

During that time, a number of local players were members of the Wagner Team, including Tewksbury resident Ryan Carlson and Wilmington residents Ryan Layton, a former Town Crier Athlete of the Year, and the late Mark Jepson.

"I was also the team's recruiter and at one time we had 22 or 23 kids on the team from Massachusetts, and a number of kids from the Merrimack Valley Conference," he said.

Before Fuller left Wagner to join the Richmond staff in 2005, he met someone else who would forever change his life, his wife, Hope.

"My wife is absolutely unbelievable," said Adam, while noting the couple has two sons, Jack and Aiden. "She's as important throughout this entire process than anyone else. For her to put aside her own dreams so I can selfishly follow my own dreams and constantly move our family is more than anyone could ever ask for. She's the one uprooting the kids, she's the one bringing them to school everyday and it's so hard when the kids get to school and have to explain why their father isn't there. She's the one who throws batting practice to the kids outside. This entire process and operation is not easy to say the least and she doesn't even blink an eye. She is absolutely everything to me."

Hope was born and raised in Staten Island and after the two got married, they have lived in: Richmond, Virginia; Holden, Massachusetts; Chattanooga, Tennessee; Huntington, West Virginia; and now have to relocate again to Memphis.

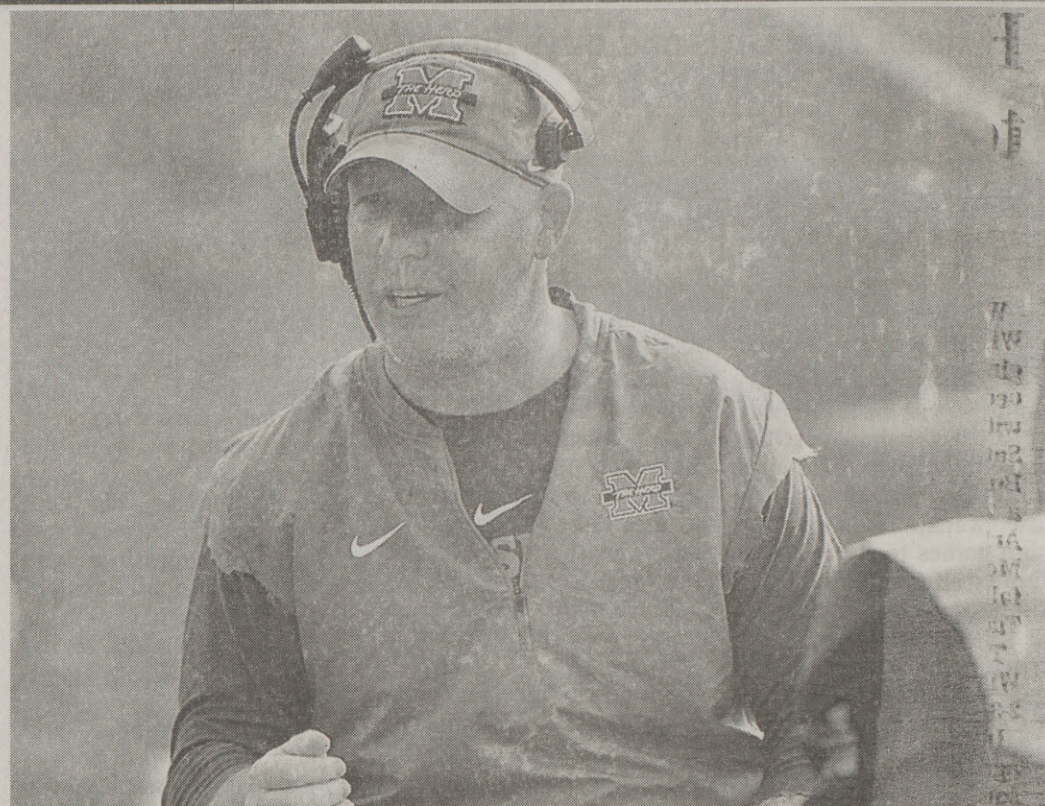

"I remember we were just married and I was leaving Wagner making $45,000 a year and I asked her to move to Richmond, Virginia where I would be making $20,000 a year and she did that, and not once did she ask me 'if this was the best idea?'. Who does that? The sacrifices she makes is just incredible. During that time it was taking two steps backwards before moving forward. She just had that unbelievable faith and trust in me knowing that we were (always) doing the right thing for our family. She has been one hundred percent behind me this entire process, and has always been on my team. She is just an absolute rock for not just me, but our entire family."

While at Richmond, Fuller recruited players mostly in Florida, Georgia and Tennessee from 2009 to 2012. He helped the Spiders win the 2005 Atlantic 10 (A-10) Conference and 2007 Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) crowns. The 2005 Richmond squad advanced to the NCAA Division I-AA quarterfinals, and the 2007 team made it to the FCS national semifinals. He was the team's defensive backs coach in '05, before being shifted to the special teams coordinator and linebackers coach in 2006 and '07.

During his tenure there, three players — Tim Hightower, Lawrence Sidbury and Justin Rogers — were drafted by the NFL, and Joshua Vaughan signed as an undrafted free agent.

After that stay, he spent one year back in Massachusetts as the head coach at Assumption College, finishing with a 1-9 record.

He then dipped back into the FSC level, joining the Chattanooga staff. He served as the defensive coordinator and during his tenure, four players advanced to the NFL and Fuller's defense was the Football Championship Subdivision's most improved defense, allowing only 25.7 points and 307 yards per game — the year before under a different coaching staff, the Mocs let up 37.9 points and 442 yards per game.

Former TMHS multi-sport athlete Adam Fuller has gone from wearing the Redmen Football jersey to now becoming the Defensive Coordinator at the University of Memphis after spending the last six years at Marshall.

Then in 2013, Fuller joined the Marshall staff. From 2013-17, he served as the Herd's assistant head coach and special teams coordinator. In 2013, Marshall had the nation's most improved scoring defense since 1998. That team won the Conference USA East Division title and won the 2013 Military Bowl.

In 2014, the Herd posted a 13-1 record, won the Boca Raton Bowl and finished the year ranked No. 22 in the Associated Press poll. Fuller's three specialists claimed All-Conference USA first team honors, and linebacker Neville Hewitt earned the league's Defensive Player of the Year award. Hewitt and teammate Jermaine Holmes went on to play in the NFL.

In 2015, linebacker Evan McKelvey received the C-USA Defensive Player of the Year honor, making it back-to-back years the Herd took the award back to Huntington, W.Va. The 2015 Herd squad went 10-3 and won the St. Petersburg Bowl.

In 2017, the Marshall defense ranked 18th in total defense, 20th in rushing defense and 10th in red zone defense, finishing 8-5 on the season.

In 2018, Fuller moved from coaching linebackers to safeties and also assumed the defensive coordinator title, which has now led him to the job at Memphis, a program that has won at least eight games each of the last five seasons.

"Memphis has one of the top offenses and have played in the conference championship the last two years, losing to (Central Florida). It's super competitive football. Football is so important there with the kids, the facilities they have, the indoor facility. There's a lot going on there when you drive by," said Fuller.

He was asked what he has learned from coaching his first year at WPI to now at Memphis.

"What it teaches you is that we all have dreams growing up and to never give up on them," he said. "No matter where you start, always dream big. I wake up everyday with a passion to work as hard as I can, to be the best person and best role model I can be. As a coach, you need to be willing to ask a player to do something and to do it with unbelievable zeal and rest, and you have to resemble what you ask of them to do for you. You can't be acting — you need to love this profession."

"Ever since I started coaching, I have been studying, watching films and videos, reading books, communicating with coaches, players and other people in the game as much as I possibly can because the game is constantly changing and I'm always trying to learn as much as I can. I wake up every day loving what I do."

Shawsheen Tech Girls and Boys Basketball

Rams stretch winning streak to five games

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

The Shawsheen Girls Basketball team continued its recent hot streak this past week, winning two more games to stretch their winning streak to five games and improve their record on the season to 6-2 overall.

The Lady Rams started their week with a 54-14 rout of CAC rival Essex Tech on the road last Wednesday night, before following that up with another blowout win on Friday night, this time at home over CAC rival Greater Lawrence by a score of 63-36, controlling both games from the opening tip to the final whistle.

"I have to say for the most part this season we've been a second half team and that has been a point of frustration for both the girls, and myself," Shawsheen coach Kate Marshall said. "Coming out of the gate at home with consistent intensity was really our goal and I've been playing around with various lineups to try to create that, and I think Friday night we really found what we've been missing."

In the win over Greater Lawrence, Shawsheen was led by an incredible all around effort from senior Shannon Fitzgerald, who had a triple double with 26 points, 13 assists and 11 steals.

For Fitzgerald, it's been a long road back. She missed the entire soccer season and most of the basketball season in her junior year after being in a major car accident prior to the start of the school year, but she most certainly looked like she was back on Friday night.

"It was such a great game for her for so many reasons. Shannon had an incredible sophomore season and then was in a car accident that broke her leg," Marshall said. "It was hard to watch a teenage athlete go through the very aggravating rehabilitation process and all of the setbacks she faced."

"She was convinced she would never recreate those 'glory days' and I think Friday night showed her that her determination and diligence paid off. As a team, we never stopped believing in her talent, I think she finally started to believe it too."

Sophomore Shelby Bourdeau also had a big game for Shawsheen with 12 points, 13 rebounds and six steals for the Lady Rams in the win.

"Shelby has been consistently improving here at Shawsheen, especially halfway through her sophomore season," Marshall said. "She has an IQ for the game that makes it easy to try her at any position, but it's Shelby's confidence on the court and taking it to the hoop that I find impressive to see in a tenth grader."

Senior captain Sam Moriconi also had a fine all around game for the Lady Rams, continuing what has been a season long trend.

"(Moriconi) has been the backbone of this team most of the season. She brings the ball up but that's because I have her playing post in the zone," Marshall said. "She really can play positions one through five and the game simply feels different when she's on the court. She has a maturity that she brings to the game that seems to get the team settled when need be."

In the win over Essex Tech on Wednesday night, the Lady Rams were led by eleven points, five assists and four steals from Becca Smith of Tewksbury, while senior captain Alex DiPerri had nine points, six streaks and nine rebounds.

"I'm very happy with our effort the last few matchups. After the week of losing two straight at the beginning of the season, I think we all did some soul searching as coaches and players and realized where changes needed to be made, both in practices and in various line-ups. My motto for the season has been 'stay hungry' which I think the girls are starting to buy into. It's the idea that we can take setbacks in stride, and also take wins without complacency."

"It's easy to win a few games and lighten up the effort, but our girls have done just the opposite. They walk into the gym every day excited to improve upon the previous one."

BOYS HOOP

Two more games this week meant two more wins for the Shawsheen Tech Boys Basketball team, who continued their recent hot streak, running their winning streak to six straight games after a pair of wins over CAC opponents on the road.

The Rams defeated Greater Lawrence last Friday night by the score of 67-25 and followed that up with a much tighter win in a 54-50 defeat of Lynn Tech on Monday night. The two road wins improved the Rams record to 6-2 overall.

"The team is playing with a lot of confidence right now. I am really proud of the way our kids are improving every day," said Shawsheen head Coach Greg Bendel.

On Friday the Rams traveled to Andover to take on the Greater Lawrence Reggies and got off to a red hot start. The Rams jumped out to a 17-0 before Greater Lawrence even got on the scoreboard, and at halftime they led by the score of 36-9.

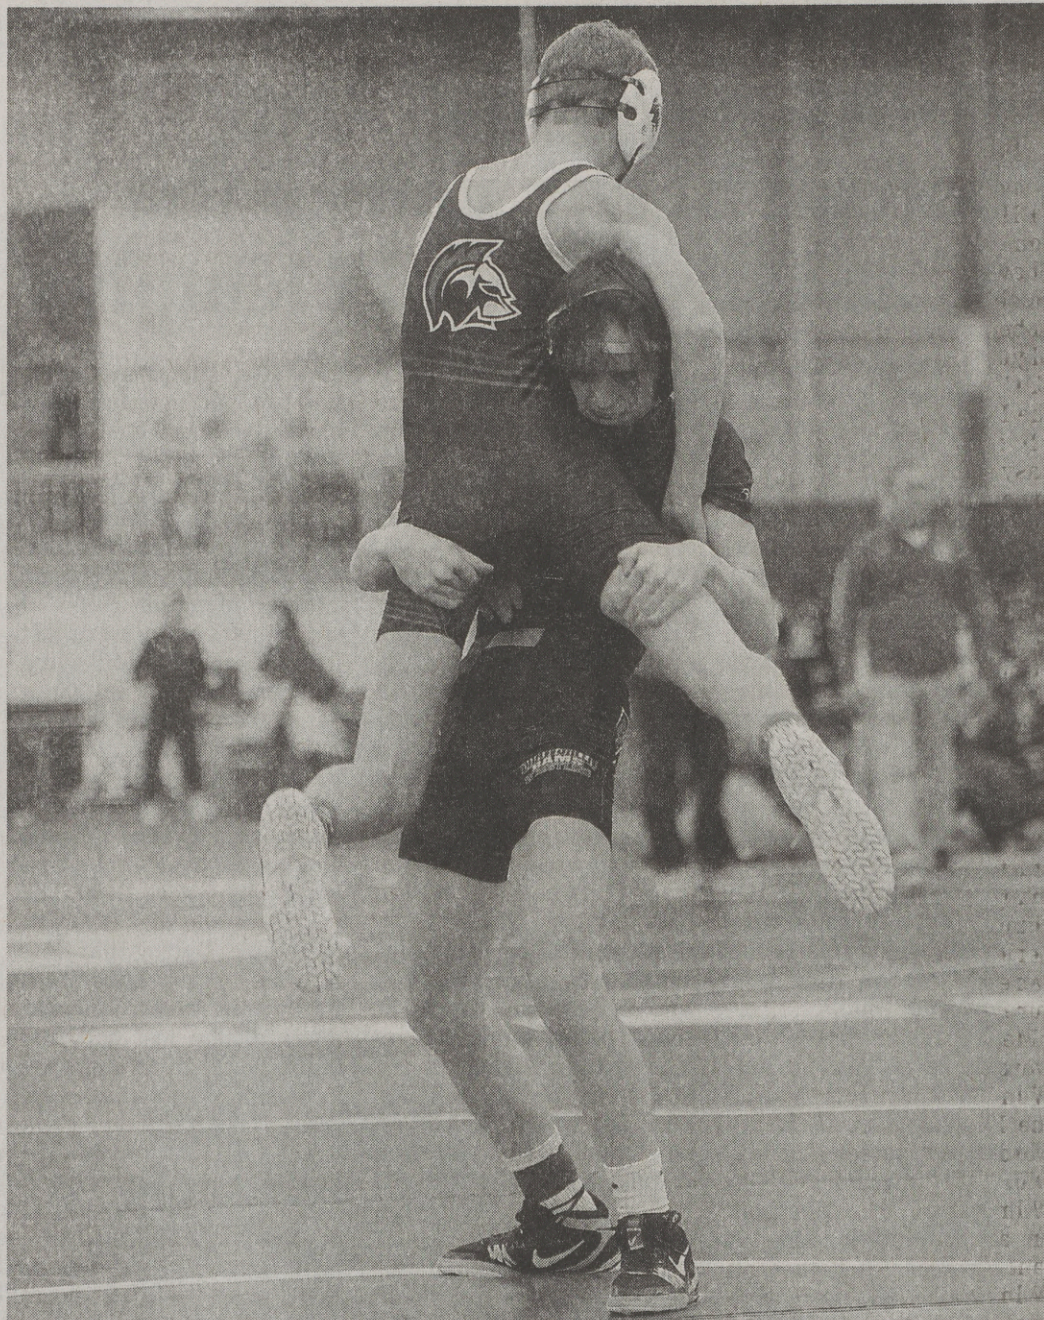

Leading the way for the Rams was senior Mark Giordano and senior Jared Rizzo of Tewksbury who both had 12 points each. Senior Casey DeCost of Tewksbury added 11 points, while Zach Mickle had nine points.

On Monday night the Rams traveled to Lynn Tech to take on the Tigers and the despite some early struggles were able to come away with a 54-40 victory. The Rams trailed after the first quarter but tied it up at halftime 27-27.

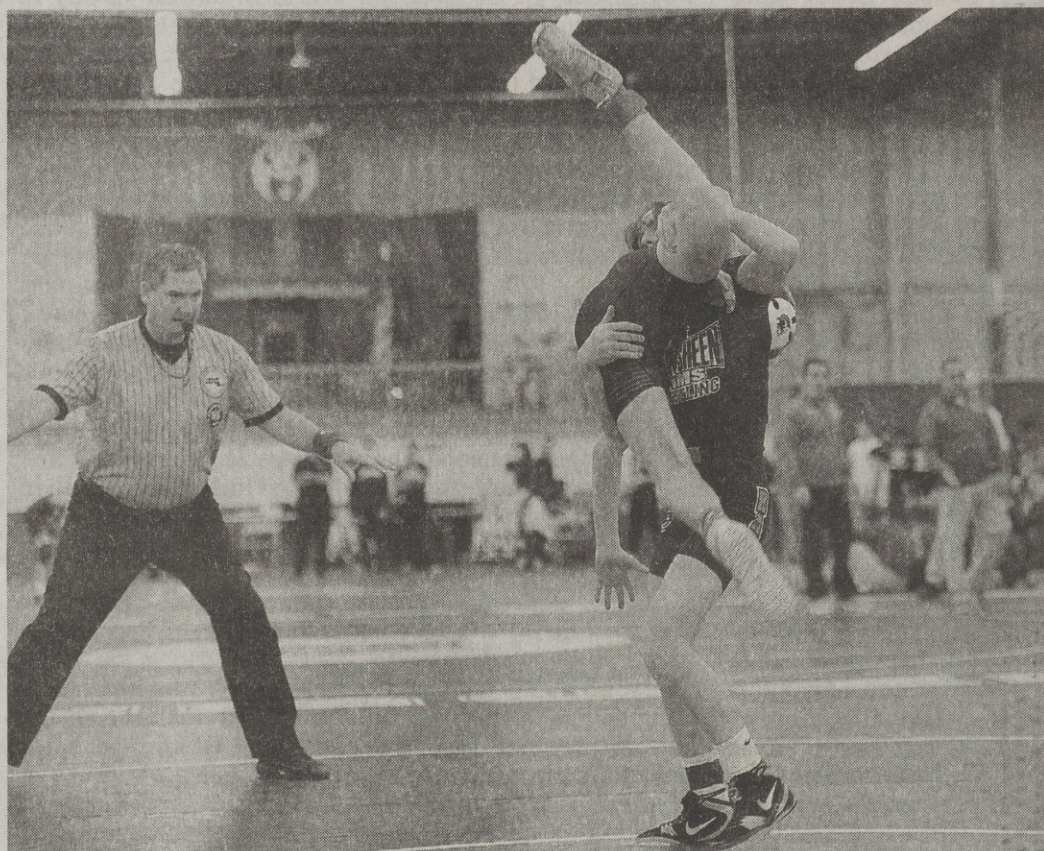

Good free throw shooting helped Shawsheen hold on for the win, with the Rams shooting 18-for-24 on the game. Leading the way for the Rams was Mickle who had a game high 19 points, while Rizzo added ten points and 12 rebounds.

"Our senior's experience is paying off. They are playing with more of a sense of urgency and our team defense is improving," said Bendel.

Next up the Rams host the defending CAC league champions Chelsea High School on Friday at 7:00pm.

Grapplers split and notch two wins in grueling dual meet tournament

By MIKE IPPOLITO

sports@yourtowncrier.com

For a team that entered the day 11-0 on the season, Saturday's 2-2 performance at the Minnechaug Dual Meet Wrestling Tournament at Minnechaug Regional High School may have been looked at as somewhat disappointing for the Shawsheen Tech Wrestling team.

However, considering the competition level they faced, the Rams will take mostly positives out of a day which saw them go toe-to-toe with some of the best teams in all of Massachusetts and Connecticut.

The Rams posted wins over previously undefeated West Springfield, 46-26 and North Andover, 72-10, while losing to a pair of top schools from Connecticut, falling by a score of 50-30 to Trumbull as well as dropping a 34-33 heartbreaker to Simsbury.

Senior Omar Edaly of Wilmington led the way for the Rams, going 4-0 on the day and winning all four of his matches by pin to improve to 24-0 on the season. He was not alone in having a big day for Shawsheen, as Stephan Saint-Juste at 152 pounds and Andre Comeau at 195 pound also each went 4-0 on the day, while freshman Joe D'Ampolo of Tewksbury (106), Austin Dube (113) and Michael Steen of Wilmington (170) won three matches apiece.

The 2-2 day left the Rams with a 13-2 overall record, although they remain undefeated on the season against Massachusetts schools (13-0).

"Like any coach, I thought we could have gone 4-0," Shawsheen coach Mark Donovan said. "We beat a real good West Springfield team, and overall I thought we wrestled really well."

"Trumbull is a very good team, but I don't think we wrestled to our potential against them," Donovan said. "Not to take anything away from them, but I feel like that was the one match where we did not do as well as we could have. But facing that kind of competition is how we will get better."

In the loss to Simsbury, the Rams held a 33-31 lead heading into the final match of the day, where sophomore Frank Foti took on Ty Finn, who finished third at Lowell Holiday Tournament. Despite Foti putting up a tremendous battle, the more experience Finn eventually was able to come away with a 6-3 victory, giving Simsbury the 34-33 win.

"Frank wrestled really well, but that is a tough spot, even for a veteran wrestler, going up against a kid like that," Donovan said.

While Frank wrestled well on the day despite losing that tough decision to Finn, the Rams are still without his older brother Vinny Foti at 145 pounds, who has been out of action with an elbow injury since the Lowell Holiday Tournament.

While it is nearly impossible to replace a talent like Vinny, sophomore Diondre Tuner of Wilmington is certainly doing his best, going 2-1 on the day while filling in for Foti.

"Diondre really stepped up for us and wrestled well," Donovan said. "He is just a sophomore, but he is a talented kid."

Other locals who continue to show promise for the Rams include freshman Joe D'Ampolo of Tewksbury and senior Mike Steen of Wilmington, each of whom went 3-1 on the day and have been wrestling well all season.

"Joe is getting better every day and he is starting to buy in to what we are doing," Donovan said. "He has been showing the dedication that it takes in order to be successful, and I think being around the older kids is rubbing off on him."

"Mike has been wrestling really well since the Lowell Holiday Tournament. He is a senior and he is on a mission. He has set some big goals for himself and he is working hard to reach them."

The Rams were looking to bounce back from their first two setbacks of the season when they hosted a talented Lawrence team on Wednesday night, with results not available as of press time.

They will be back in action on Saturday when they host a dual meet against Greater Lawrence, Reading and Wakefield, with the matches beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the Cook Street Pavilion.

Boys Hockey team continues scorching start - now 3-0-2

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA - Despite some anxious moments, the Shawsheen Tech Boys Hockey team remained unbeaten this past Thursday night with a 3-2 win over CAC rival Nashoba Tech at the Hallenborg Pavilion.

It may not have been as easy as some fans were expecting, as the Rams went out to a 3-0 lead after two periods and then had to withstand a furious rally by the Vikings in the third period, but behind some strong efforts by some of their youngest players, the Rams were able to improve to 2-0-2 on the season.

Sophomore goalie Jared Palmer of Tewksbury made 18 saves in his first varsity start for the Rams, with many of his biggest stops coming in the frantic third period when the Vikings were creating constant pressure.

Meanwhile, freshman forward Dylan Timmons of Wilmington had a goal for the Rams, while junior forward and assistant captain Dan McGaffigan of Wilmington had a goal and an assist and senior assistant captain DJ DeRose of Wilmington also added a goal.

In years past, the Rams have had several blowout victories over Nashoba Tech, but that was certainly not the case in this one, as the Vikings came out determined to make the Rams earn everything they got.

"I thought that Nashoba played hard. They have been playing a lot of teams tight. We played pretty well and I felt we controlled the play except when we were in the box," Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker said. "We did not play well at the end when they scored two goals to make it 3-2. We need to find our identity first and I think good things can happen."

The teams battled through a scoreless tie for much of the third period, before Timmons scored the first goal of the game and his second of the year with 3:48 left in the period on assists from McGaffigan and Nathan Silva. The Rams would take their 1-0 lead to the locker room at the end of the first period.

Baker has been pleased, but not necessarily surprised with Timmons fast start to the season and his high school career.

"Dylan is a great kid and a very good player with a ton of potential to become a phenomenal player," Baker said. "He has a great motor and works hard. He has adjusted for sure and is taking his huge role as a freshman and running with it.

McGaffigan nearly made it 2-0 early in the second period with a nice shot from the slot that hit the crossbar, and a few minutes later, with 6:30 left in the period, he nearly scored on a short-handed bid off a great setup in front from Timmons, only to be denied by a great stop by the Nashoba goalie.

McGaffigan was finally rewarded for all of his hard work a couple of minutes later, scoring with 4:32 left in the period to make it 2-0, a lead the Rams would hold through the end of the period.

"Danny is starting to play like we as coaches expect him to," Baker said. "He has all the ability to be a star forward. I hope his play continues."

Nashoba came out in the third period determined to get back in the game, having several quality scoring chances in the early going, only to be denied by Palmer, with his best save coming on a 2-on-1 with 9:15 left in the game, and another great stop moments later on a point blank bid in front of the net.

"Jared played well. He is young and I am sure he was nervous in his first varsity start," Baker said. "He didn't see many shots, 19 I believe but he did a nice job. I also felt as a team we did a good job getting sticks on pucks and blocking shots."

Despite Nashoba having some early chances, it was the Rams who struck first, with DeRose making the score 3-0 with 8:12 left, popping in the rebound of an Anthony Papa shot.

Nashoba Tech would not quit, however, getting on the board for the first time with 5:50 left in the game on a tip in off of that looked may have been a high stick, followed by another goal with 1:32 left off a rebound in front, but Palmer and the Rams held off the Vikings to earn the victory.

The Rams were back in action on Saturday afternoon at the Essex Sports Center in Middleton, where they skate to a scoreless tie with CAC rival Essex Tech, backboned by a 25-save effort from junior goalie Kam Neault of Tewksbury.

"The game was slow paced. Essex is a simple hard working team," Baker said. "Both goalies played great."

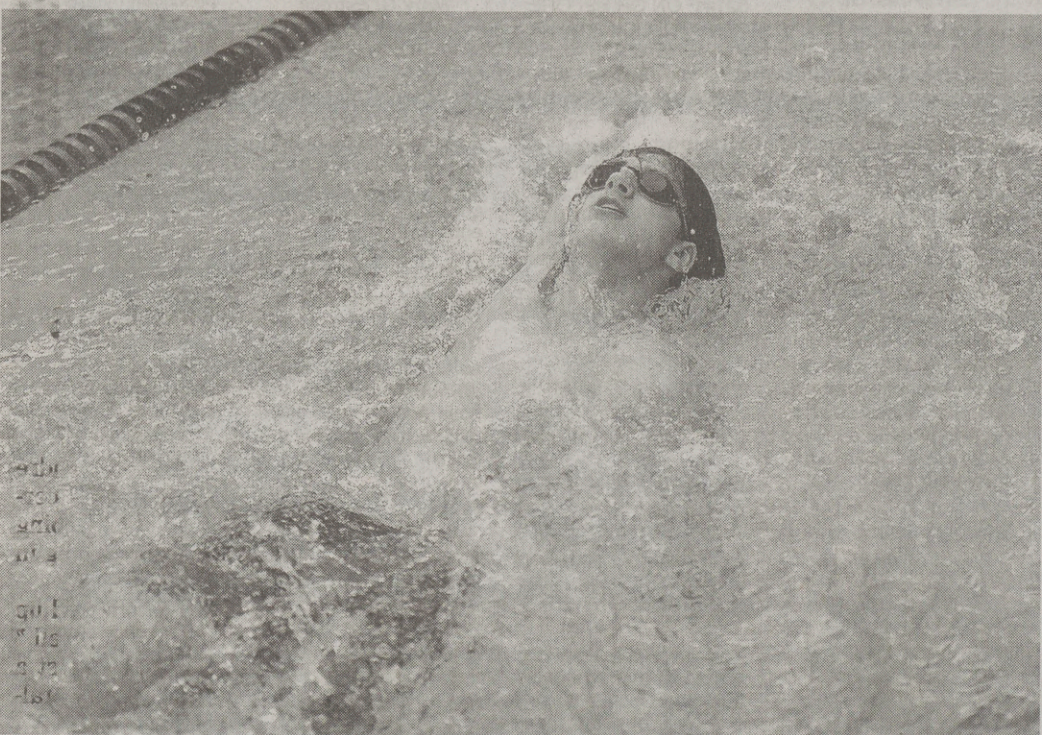

The 2-0-3 Rams will look to keep their undefeated start going on Thursday night when they host non-league rival Hamilton-Wenham at the Hallenborg Pavilion for a 7:10 faceoff.

The Rams busy week will continue on Saturday when they travel to the Dorothy Talbot Arena to take on CAC rival Rockport for a 6:00 pm start, followed by a 3:00 pm faceoff at the Warrior Ice Arena in Brighton to face St. Joseph's Prep.

Shawsheen's Co-Ed Swim team makes a big splash with latest win

sports@yourtowncrier.com
BILLERICA - The Shawsheen Tech Co-Ed Swim team picked up their second consecutive victory last Wednesday afternoon with an 89-84 home win over CAC rival Greater Lawrence, being led to victory by several outstanding performances both individually as well in relays.

In fact, as has been the case in most of their meets this season, the relay teams stood out for their outstanding performances, led by their mixed 200-yard medley relay teams, which took the top two spots in that event.

Leading the way for the Rams was the team of Damien Hadden of Tewksbury, Jonathan O'Neill, Ryan Callahan of Wilmington and Derek Costello of Wilmington, who outpaced the field in a time of 2:01.50. That group was followed by Shawsheen's second foursome of Jacqueline Megna, Carli Spada of Wilmington, Kinsey Boutwell and Erica Schafer, who finished in 2:41.67.

The Rams also took the top three spots in the mixed 200-yard freestyle relay, where Cody Biancuzzo, Callahan, Zachary Morris of Wilmington and Shaikh Amaan took the top spot in a time of 1:55.53.

They were followed shortly thereafter by the team of Cameron Hudson, Tyler Newhouse of Wilmington, Cole Privetera and Connor Maguire in a time of 2:07.93 as well as the team of Boutwell, Schafer, Spada and Megna in a time of 2:15.58.

The Rams also did very well in several individual events, with Hadden and Biancuzzo taking the top two spots in the mixed 200-yard freestyle with Hadden leading the way in a time of 2:10.96, followed by Biancuzzo in a time of 2:26.49.

The Rams swept the top three spots in both the mixed 50-yard freestyle as well as the mixed 100-yard butterfly. In the 50, the Rams were led by O'Neill in a time of 25.99, followed by Callahan in 28.25 and Hudson in 29.21. Meanwhile in the 100, Costello led the way in a time of 1:10.69, followed by Aidan Singh in 1:15.92 and Morris in 1:18.89.

In the mixed 100-yard backstroke the Rams were led by a first place finish from Maguire in a time of 1:24.89, followed closely by Schafer in second place in a time of 1:38.55.

In the diving events, Cole Privetera of Tewksbury earned a third place finish despite being very new to the event, while Kevin Stevens of Wilmington earned a fourth place finish in his first time ever competing in the event.

The Rams will be looking to win their third straight meet on Friday when they travel to Lynn to take on CAC rival Lynn Tech for a 3:30 pm meet.

Samantha Ryan drains a big three-pointer to send Sr. League game into OT

TGBL Game Summaries from 12/22 and 1/5 Senior Division

Blazers 42, Jazz 40

Samantha Ryan hit a three pointer to force overtime with less than 10 seconds remaining in regulation time. During overtime both team traded baskets before the Blazers came out on top. Leading the scoring was Maddy Montejito and Sam Perkins both with ten points each. Followed closely by Sam Ryan with nine. Ashley Demers added five, Lily Gigante, Rebecca Langone, Alyssa Gray and Maisan Nguyen, all had two points each. Brooke Bunyan contributed on the defensive side. Rachel Picher was missing for the game.

Sonics 30, Suns 22

Playing with only six players, the Suns hung in there for three quarters, but ran out of gas in the fourth. Alyssandra Ragusa and Darya Mehrabani did a good job of rebounding and limiting second chance opportunities. Sophia Brown did a good job of holding down the Sonic's point guards on defense.

The Suns scoring came from: Madison Stovesand 12, Riley Veits 8, and Maeve Cahill 2.

Blazers 29, Suns 24

The Blazers won with scoring from Sam Ryan nine points; followed by Sam Perkins, Maisan Nguyen, Ashley Demers and Maddy Montejito all with four points each. Rachel Picher and Rebecca Langone both added two points each. Lily Gigante, Alyssa Gray and Brooke Bunyan contributed on the defensive side.

Playing shorthanded again, the Suns gave their best effort. Down by 9 entering the fourth quarter, they cut the lead to 2, but that was as close as they could get. Emma Nowell did a good job of setting picks. Alyssandra Ragusa did her best at keeping the second chance opportunities to a minimum on defense.

Their scoring came from Madison Stovesand 8, Kiley Kennedy 6, Riley Veits 4, Jennie Lester 2, and scoring 2 each for the first time this season Sophia Brown and Darya Mehrabani.

Intermediate Division

Jayhawks 29, Eagles 15

Week 5 had the Eagles playing two games. In the first contest, the Eagles faced the Jayhawks and lost 29-15.

The Eagles offense started off slow but picked up in the second half including Dakota Malizia hitting a 3-point shot when time expired. Dakota led the team in scoring with 10 points. Contributing to the scoring also was Whitney Gigante (2 points), Aislin Davis (2 points) and Kimsan Nguyen (1 point).

Any Cranston, Claudia Melo, Paige Crowley, Alanna Paquette, Chloe Burns contributed to the rebounding and defensive effort.

Badgers 26, Eagles 24

The Eagles held the lead for most of the game until late when the Badgers hit a game winning shot with less than three seconds remaining and beat the Eagles 26-24. Dakota Malizia led the team in Scoring with 13 points.

Also contributing to the scoring was Paige Crowley (7 points), Whitney Gigante (2 points), and Claudia Melo (2 points). Kimsan Nguyen, Aislin Davis, Alanna Paquette, Chloe Burns, and Autumn Gallant contributed to the rebounding and defensive effort.

Wolverines 26, Badgers 10

Game 1 the designated players were Ella McAllister and Molly MacDonald. They split duties during our first and third quarter action, with each player contributing huge underneath with offensive and defensive rebounds, along with Alex Civitarese who was there anchoring the team with strong defense yet again. Sofia Pescatore continued to lead the squad on defense as well, causing turnovers or just frustrating the Badger guards. She had Tia Smith handling the ball for the Wolverines in the first half, along with Juliana Leffler and Jordyn St Cyr.

Scoring strong baskets that first quarter were Tia Smith with 4 points and Molly MacDonald with a basket. The second quarter we had Emily Picher sub in for Tia as our point guard. She did not disappoint scoring 2 baskets and leading the charge on defense. She had supported that quarter on offense from Ella McAllister, Makayla Stovesand 3 points, and Jordyn St. Cyr who had her first basket of the season.

For the second half we had Morgan Crowley and Emma Lanziero come in strong off the bench. They were both instrumental keeping the Badgers out of the contest. Scoring in the second half were Tia Smith with 4 more points, Emma Lanziero with a basket, and Makayla Stovesand as well hitting a nice shot outside. The fourth quarter was all about us controlling the ball and limiting scoring which we did. Emily Picher added a free throw to seal the win.

Jayhawks 27, Wolverines 23

Less than 10 minutes after their first game, the Wolverines were back out on the court. This time Morgan Crowley and Tia Smith lead as our guards. The designated players were Juliana Leffler and Ella McAllister again. They shared playing time during our first and third quarters. Unfortunately, the Wolverines were feeling the first game as our offense was lacking. The

During halftime of Tuesday night's TMHS Girls Basketball game against Lawrence a 'Knockout contest' was held for the youth players who attended the Redmen Girls Summer Hoop Camp. The winners of the shooting contest include Maddy Montejito and Nicole Baron, who pose with Varsity Coach Mark Bradley. (courtesy photo/Ron Drouin - TMHS AD).

Wolverines did get a basket from Molly MacDonald in the first quarter, but the Jayhawks were hot scoring 12 fast points. Makayla Stovesand and Jordyn St. Cyr also were playing the first half and gave their best efforts on each side of the ball. Tia Smith added a free throw point for us in the second quarter, but we found ourselves behind on the score 14-3.

For the start of the third quarter Emily Picher suited up as our point guard supported by Sofia Pescatore. Emily got us back into the contest quickly scoring 7 points. The team also had some offense from Juliana Leffler and Molly MacDonald.

In the fourth, Emily Picher added some more offense with 5 more points, and as well strong offense from Alex Civitarese, who had two baskets and tons of great offensive rebounds. Emma Lanziero gave it her all underneath with strong defensive skills as did Jordyn St Cyr.
